

Cold Wave Sends Mercury Down To 20 Degrees

Ice and frost extended from Belvedere to Novato early today as the season's coldest weather nipped Marin.

At the county firehouse in Woodacre, the mercury fell to 20 degrees. This was within one degree of the winter's low of 19 recorded last Nov. 17 and again Jan. 14.

San Rafael had a low of 29, the first time this season the mercury has gone below 30—a mark reached on the city hall thermometer on Jan. 23 and 24.

A new low for the season also was reported in the Chevy Chase district of Larkspur, where volunteer weather observer J. J. Niebauer recorded a minimum of 26, with "lots of ice." Water in outdoor pipes froze solid, he reported.

The Novato main firehouse had a low of 25, tying the season's mark recorded previously on Jan. 23 and 24.

It was 26 in Tamalpais Valley; 29 in Terra Linda and Fairfax; 30 at the San Anselmo main firehouse—where the temperature stayed at that mark until after 8 a.m.; 32 in Sausalito; 33 in Belvedere; 34 in Mill Valley.

Ice covered puddles in Bolinas. There was much frost on the grass in Inverness. Icicles formed from the water of fire hoses played on a burning house in Mill Valley. Belvedere commuters threw sand on icy driveways to get traction for their cars.

The Weather Bureau predicted clear skies again tonight and tomorrow, but said it should be somewhat warmer tomorrow.

Abnormal cold was general throughout much of California. Snow fell in Riverside. The mercury hit 24 degrees at Palmdale in the southern California desert. The minimum was 39 in San Francisco, 24 in Santa Rosa.

WEATHER FORECAST

Bay Area: Fair through tomorrow; warmer.

Sierra Nevada: Partly cloudy northern ranges tomorrow; fair in south.

Blaze Guts 5-Room Home In Mill Valley

$16,000 Damage;
Cause Of Fire
Is Undetermined

Fire gutted the home of Mrs. Fay Sparks in Mill Valley last night, causing $16,000 damage to the five-room structure and its contents.

The fire, cause of which was undetermined, was believed to have broken out in the living room while Mrs. Sparks was away, said Fire Chief Leslie Armager. The three-level frame home is at 167 Ethel Avenue.

Phil Palmer of 154 Ethel Avenue reported the fire at 5:55 p.m., seeing gusts of smoke coming up from the roof.

LIVES ALONE

Mrs. Sparks, who lives alone, stayed overnight with her daughter, Mrs. Garth Hite at 174 Lovell Avenue. She also has a son, F. C. Sparks who lives adjacent to her at 171 Ethel Avenue.

Mrs. Hite said her mother's cat had been in the house but it was not known if the pet escaped.

Many commuters spotted the fire as they returned to their homes, the flames shooting up through redwood trees surrounding the home. Armager said, however, fire did not endanger nearby houses nor damage any trees.

BURNS ROOF

He said the fire went from the main floor to the second story bedroom. It burned off the rear portion of the roof.

This morning dozens of icicles, up to 10 inches long, could be seen hanging inside the building, caused from water used to quench the blaze.

Mrs. Sparks had moved into the home last September, a neighbor reported.

Alto Woman Burned By Trash Fire

An Alto woman was reported in "fair" condition this noon after being burned when her clothing caught fire while she was burning trash in an incinerator behind her cottage at 51 Shell Road.

Miss Ruth M. Reynolds, 72, owner of a Corte Madera gift shop, was treated at Marin General Hospital for first and second degree burns on her right arm, chest and right leg.

A neighbor, Mrs. John Ihle at 49 Shell Road, heard cries of "help" at about 9:10 a.m. Going to her kitchen window, Mrs. Ihle saw Miss Reynolds screaming for help, her clothing ablaze. Miss Reynolds was ripping off her burning clothing in bits and throwing it onto the grass.

Ihle ran next door, wrapped a blanket around Miss Reynolds and helped her into her house. A doctor treated Miss Reynolds at her home before she was taken by ambulance to the hospital.

Miss Reynolds operates the Tamal Treasure Chest Gift Shop at 34 Tamalpais Drive, Corte Madera.

PISTOL PACKIN' MAMA SCARES OFF PROWLER

Mrs. Betty Ann Rodriguez of 997 Second Street, Novato, sleeps with a loaded revolver under her pillow.

Last midnight, she used it.

Mrs. Rodriguez called Novato police shortly after midnight to report she'd just shot at a prowler. She said she was awakened by someone trying to get through her bedroom window. She saw a shadow on the window shade. Then the prowler began ripping at the screen.

At that point, Mrs. Rodriguez got out the .25 caliber revolver and fired one shot.

Police found footprints leading away from the window—in long strides.

Dope Trial Witnesses Are Pictured As Liars

The prosecution's star witnesses are "liars" and their testimony cannot be accepted at face value, defense attorney Frank Duncan declared today in his final argument in the San Quentin dope smuggling case.

Duncan put the "liar" tags on Mrs. Anna Maria Kellam, 25, of Oakland; Robert T. Ballentine, 34, convict serving a life term, and Frank Yetter of Niles, stepfather of convict Clark McKeown.

Duncan likened their testimony to rotten apples. "If you have a rotten apple, you don't cut out the rotten part and throw it back in the barrel," he told the jury of seven women and five men. "You throw out the apple."

"These witnesses have been caught in downright lies," said

Duncan. He asked the jurors to toss out their testimony.

Two other defense lawyers, Elinor Chandler and S. Bruce Seidmore, gave their final speeches to the jury yesterday. Defense attorney Peter Allen Smith was to give his final argument today.

Asst. Dist. Atty. Bruce B. Bales, who contends that all four defendants conspired to smuggle narcotics into prison, will wind up the case with his closing argument. Judge N. Charles Brusatori will probably hand the case to the jury tomorrow.

The accused include Mrs. Pauline Herrera, 31, of Los Angeles; Mrs. Marie Frances Hall, 47, of Hayward, and convicts Benjamin Gonzales, 28, and Richard Rodriguez, 34. Only Mrs. Hall took the stand in her own defense.

Garety Is Called To Stand As Rogers' Defense Begins

Attorney George T. Davis today opened his defense of murder suspect Robert Burdette Rogers by calling Dist. Atty. Roger P. Garety on the witness stand.

Rogers, 43, is being tried for the second time for the gunshot death of his wife Bertie, 35, at her mother's San Rafael home on Aug. 7, 1959.

The district attorney was called on the stand to identify several documents, on which he had scribbled short notations. Davis is attacking a report submitted by Dr. Henry Moon, University of California pathologist, on grounds that not all the evidence available to the district attorney had been submitted to Dr. Moon for analysis. Davis said the dead woman's blouse had not been made available to Dr. Moon.

A jury of nine women and three men are hearing the case before Judge Thomas F. Keating in Marin Superior Court.

The Rogers' daughter, now 19 years old, was sitting in court this morning, waiting to testify for her father. She is Mrs. Barbara Broadhag of Los Angeles.

A series of "moos" caused pedestrians and office workers to peer around for the cow. But they emanated from a newly installed emergency firehorn at the city's main firehouse at Fifth Avenue and C Street.

The emergency horn was formerly atop the now-dismantled Pacific Gas and Electric Co. gas storage tanks at Third and Brooks streets. It was given its first test today in its new location.

Book Dealer: Didn't Know Of 'Tropic' Jurors

A San Francisco mail order book dealer, accused of mailing "Tropic of Cancer" literature to jurors while the book trial was going on, declared today he did not know the letters went to the jurors.

Harrison Mercer Klein-schmidt, alias J. D. Mercer, represented by San Francisco attorney Benjamin Davis, appeared before Judge Harold J. Haley in Marin Municipal Court to answer a charge of contempt of court.

Kleinschmidt submitted affidavits alleging that he mailed out literature to names he received through a newspaper clipping service. His employees sent out "Tropic of Cancer" literature to the names provided by the clipping service. He said the jurors in the Marin book trial appeared in the Independent-Journal, and his employees mailed out the literature to the jurors without his knowing about it.

Transit Safety Probe On Gate Span Approved

A two-phased investigation of the safety of rapid transit on the Golden Gate Bridge was approved today by the bridge directors.

The study, scope of which was proposed by three engineering experts hired by the bridge district, would initially probe the various stresses which rapid transit would put on the bridge structure.

If the stresses were found to not exceed "a conservative margin of safety," a second phase would be undertaken. This would include study of required structural changes, review of wind-tunnel tests, extensive tests on the bridge cable itself, and practicability of rapid transit approach to the span.

The three engineers, O. H. Ammann, Frank M. Masters and N. M. Newmark, reported to the board that the $30,000 estimated total cost probably would not be sufficient if the second phase were undertaken, nor would the deadline of mid-April for their report allow enough time.

A report on the first phase would be made earlier, however. If this should prove unsatisfactory, the study could be stopped.

The bridge directors instructed the three engineers to proceed with the study.

The directors also:

1. Offered "complete cooperation" with a seven-man committee of commuters appointed by the Marin supervisors to investigate traffic on the bridge. The committee was invited to confer with the bridge general manager on traffic problems.

2. Received a letter of appreciation from Mrs. H. A. Sperry of San Rafael for the new bus shelters at the toll plaza. At the request of Marin director Leland Murphy, studies of improving the shelters will be undertaken.

3. Welcomed new Mendocino director John E. Nelson, Ukiah attorney, to his first meeting of the board. He replaces the late George P. Anderson.

Board Seeks More Time On Transit

Marin County supervisors voted today to ask the legislature to grant a six-months extension of time within which decision may be made to remain in or quite the Bay Area Rapid Transit District.

Supervisor Peter Behr suggested this course after County Counsel E. Warren McGuire had indicated approach of a crisis, with decision due in April. Whether the rapid transit system can include Marin hinges now on whether rails can be placed on the Golden Gate Bridge.

"If they find it possible to use the bridge for rapid transit," said Supervisor William D. Fusselman, "We can forget about getting out of the district."

Fusselman also felt that if this county were to stay in, but eventually discover it couldn't get rapid transit connection, "no court would hold us to pay where we had no benefits."

Asst. Auditor Michael Mitchell said "many people are paying for sanitation district bonds where they can't use the system."

Everybody agreed that some sort of change in the law should be put before the assembly on an emergency "governor's special call" basis—at least time extension, but if possible something more comprehensive.

Glenn Says All Flights Can't Be Successful

WASHINGTON (AP)—Lt. Col. John H. Glenn Jr., America's first "round-the-world" astronaut, told Congress today that "not every flight can come back as successfully as the three we have had so far."

Glenn made the remark in matter-of-fact fashion as part of his reply to a question whether it might be better to have a trained scientist along on some future flights.

He told the House Space Committee it is hoped that some day there will be space craft large enough for this kind of specialization but "at least for the immediate future we can better use pilots than scientists."

There may be emergencies the trained pilot could meet better, he explained.

Glenn gave his testimony in a crowded hearing room after appearances by James E. Webb, chief of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration, Space Flight Director Robert Gilruth, and Glenn's two astronaut colleagues, Cmdr. Alan B. Shepard Jr. and Capt. Virgil I. Grissom.

Shepard and Grissom had preceded Glenn, in suborbital flight, to pave the way for Glenn to race three times around the world in orbit last Tuesday.

Shepard, the first American in space, told the legislators that men in the space program must have their own luck.

"We make our own luck by careful attention to details and duty and design and qualification tests," Shepard said.

He added that the provision of back-up systems for use if one piece of equipment fails, plus a thorough testing program, provide reliability.

The first witness in the committee's study of the $2,260,000,000 budget request for the National Aeronautics and Space Administration to carry on manned space flight was Webb.

Webb said that one very distinguished U.S. scientist has volunteered to go along with astronauts on the first mission to the moon.

Kennedy Sends New Aged-Health Plan Appeal To Congress

U.S. Immunization, Medic Center Funds, Mental Research Asked

WASHINGTON (AP) — President John F. Kennedy today sent Congress a new and urgent plea for health insurance for the aged, "self-financed" by a one-billion-dollar boost in Social Security taxes.

In a special health message urging lawmakers to bring the miracles of modern medicine within reach of all Americans, Kennedy also proposed:

1. A three-year, nationwide immunization drive to stamp out polio, diphtheria, whooping cough and tetanus, with Uncle Sam footing the whole bill for vaccine for every child under five years.
2. Federal loans to help build and equip centers for group practice by doctors and dentists, to stretch the supply of medical skills and improve the quality of care—especially in small towns.
3. New and expanded federal outlays totaling 182 million dollars for mental health, control of pollution, medical research and other programs.

Two new White House bills were due to reach Congress right after the message — the mass-vaccination plan and a broadened governmental attack on air and water pollution and radiation hazards.

The 182-million-dollar hike in appropriation requests includes 35-million dollars for the immunization drive, but not the costs of another program close to Kennedy's heart — an attack on mental retardation in children.

His panel on mental retardation will make its reports by the end of the year, Kennedy said. With it in hand he will offer a program to discover, treat and prevent the many and obscure causes of this affliction of five million Americans.

LONGTIME U.S. GOAL

Kennedy-Khrushchev Telecasts Seem Near

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States and the Soviet Union are reported to be arranging for an exchange next month of simultaneous filmed telecasts by President John F. Kennedy and Premier Nikita Khrushchev.

Informants said yesterday the tentative date for the exchange is March 24 or 25. They said each leader would make a 15-minute statement, followed by translation, which would be shown in the other country.

White House press secretary Pierre Salinger said "there are no present arrangements" for such programs.

Other sources, however, said Salinger reached agreement in principle on such a trade with his Soviet counterpart, Mikhail Kharlamov, when the two met in Paris last month.

Presentation of the American viewpoint behind the Iron Curtain, including statements by U.S. leaders, has been a longtime U.S. objective which has met with limited success so far. Kennedy was interviewed last November by Izvestia editor Alexei I. Adzhubei, Khrushchev's son-in-law. The interview was published in the Soviet government newspaper.

De Gaulle, Kennedy Hold Talks

PARIS (UPI) — Atty. Gen. Robert Kennedy, winding up a world tour, paid an informal "courtesy call" on President Charles de Gaulle at his official residence here today.

Although there was no immediate official word as to what was said, observers speculated the two men may have discussed:

De Gaulle's announced intention of equipping France with an independent nuclear striking force.

His surprise call for a four-power summit conference on disarmament.

The French president's stand in favor of a loose political union of the countries comprising the European Common Market.

IRA Announces End Of Threat To Irish Border

Terrorist War To Unite Isle Is Called Off

DUBLIN, Ireland (AP) — Both sides of the Irish border welcomed today the underground Irish Republican Army's announcement that it had abandoned its terrorist war to unite the island. But Northern Ireland's government, target of the outlawed IRA's attacks, said it will keep its guard up.

The IRA declared its peace in copies of a statement slipped on to front counters of Dublin newspaper offices last night.

The IRA admitted it had received little support from the Irish people and blamed public apathy on government muzzling of the press. It said the IRA would embark on a campaign to keep Ireland out of involvement in European alliances which it said might lead the country into war.

Charles Haughey, minister of justice of the Irish republic, called the IRA decision good news and said the underground's terrorism "was a policy which Irish public opinion had decisively rejected."

In Northern Ireland, which gives its allegiance to the British crown, Minister for Home Affairs Brian Faulkner said the IRA statement "is of course welcome." The tragedy is that these misguided people who have carried on a futile campaign for five years have taken so long to realize its hopelessness.

He added "until it is seen that the campaign is in fact ended, our own people can be assured that security precautions will be maintained."

The IRA is an underground descendant of the Irish revolutionary forces which won independence from Britain for the southern 26 counties between 1916 and 1922. The northern six counties remain part of the United Kingdom.

One bill, introduced yesterday by Rep. Frank Chelf (D-Ky.) would authorize presentation of the medals to all seven astronauts assigned to the Project Mercury man-in-space program.

Chelf's bill also would provide bonuses of two years salary for each of the astronauts and of $5,000 to "each scientist, physicist, mathematician, engineer and technician and other persons materially and actively engaged in" Project Mercury.

The other proposal by Sen. Olin D. Johnston (D-S.C.) would authorize the Medal of Honor for Glenn alone.

Johnson Of Olsen And Dies At 65

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) — Harold (Chick) Johnson, 65, the younger member of the daffy and durable comedy team of Olsen and Johnson, died at a Las Vegas hospital last night of a kidney disease.

His death ended a partnership that had produced noise and laughter for nearly a half century—in vaudeville, on the New York stage and in the movies.

Johnson and his wife Catherine came here about three weeks ago from their ranch at Carmel, N.Y., and were living in a trailer camp near the Las Vegas strip. Mrs. Johnson said they made the move to get away from the cold in the east.

Johnson hadn't worked with his longtime partner, John S. (Ole) Olsen, about 70, in about a year.

Johnson was born in Chicago and was appearing there as a pianist in the World War I era when he met Olsen, then a student at Northwestern University.

They teamed up at a local vaudeville house just for laughs, and were a success.

They went on the Pantages circuit, then the Keith circuit. Later they got together in such stage successes as "Hellzapoppin'" and "Laughing Room Only."

Plumas County Power Project Is Dismissed

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Power Commission dismissed today an application for a preliminary permit for a hydroelectric project on Indian Creek in Plumas County because it would conflict with state plans to develop a public recreation project.

The commission said the California Department of Water Resources plan involves starting construction this spring on the recreation project in the Plumas National Forest and possible later water-power development.

The application for a preliminary permit was filed in February by Robert P. Wilson, Taylorsville. He proposed the possibility of building three dams on Indian Creek, with three power houses which would have a total installed generating capacity of 30,000 kilowatts.

Cambodia became a member of the United Nations in 1955.

OAKLAND (AP) — A mother and her 8-year-old daughter died in bed when fire swept their apartment last night.

Firemen said Mrs. Florene Mann, 44, and the daughter, Anna, were apparently overcome by the heat and smoke in an upstairs bedroom. Either a faulty television set or a cigarette started the fire, officials said.

Can't Get Bail

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (AP) — An attorney for a Negro minister has been unable to win his client's release on bail after receiving a U.S. Supreme Court order to try.

The attorney's action came after the court yesterday ordered one more attempt in state courts to get a hearing and bail for the Rev. F. L. Shuttlesworth, Negro integration leader.

If that fails, the Supreme Court said, Shuttlesworth may again appeal to U.S. District courts for action.

The court issued a ruling that directed the state courts of Alabama to act within five days on the question of bail.

SOUTH VIETNAMESE BOMB THE PALACE

Attempt To Kill President, Family By Own Air Force Is Unsuccessful

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — Two South Vietnamese air force fighter-bombers bombed, rocketed and strafed Saigon's presidential palace today in an unsuccessful attempt to kill President Ngo Dinh Diem or members of his family who exert a strong influence on his government.

Casualties from the attack on the palace were not known immediately, but several wounded palace guards were loaded into ambulances.

In Washington, U.S. officials said first reports listed one dead and two hurt in the air assault on the cream and yellow palace. They said none of the 4,000 American military personnel and civilians in South Viet Nam were involved.

"All air force bases have been alerted," said Diem in his broadcast. "All measures of security have been taken. All offices are to function normally and the population should remain calm and fulfill its duties."

A government newscast said Diem had left the palace 45 minutes after the attack "for a scheduled field trip."

The surprise attack at 6:50 a.m. caught the palace with only a few troops on guard. Immediately after military authorities set up a tight defense perimeter manned by truckloads of heavily armed soldiers.

Diem was the target of a short-lived uprising by five paratroop battalions 15 months ago, but today's air attack appeared to be an independent, isolated assault by a few anti-Diem pilots rather than a large-scale plot against the U.S.-supported regime. There was no move to follow up the air attack on the ground and no reports of rebellion by government forces elsewhere in the country.

Diem said loyal armed forces had the situation "completely under control throughout the national territory."

A government radio newscast said one of the attacking planes—identified as AD-6 Sky-raidiers supplied South Viet Nam's air force by the United States—was shot down near the coast and a lieutenant and sublieutenant aboard were captured. Military sources in Saigon said two LSTs of the Viet Nam navy shot the plane down.

Candidate Christopher Talks 'Non-Politics' In Mill Valley

By BRUCE COLEMAN

Peppered for an hour with questions from members of the Mill Valley Awareness Group, San Francisco's Mayor George Christopher walked out of the municipal golf clubhouse yesterday saying, "Those girls are sharp. They're aware."

Greek-born Christopher, who said he purchased two-million-dollars worth of milk last year from Marin and Sonoma counties, is a candidate for the Republican nomination for lieutenant governor. State Sen. John F. McCarthy of San Rafael is also seeking the nomination.

He spoke as favoring decentralized government, against extremists. He discussed his talks in 1960 with Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev.

Christopher told the crowd of about 100 women he would abstain from discussing politics, then went on to say he had "high affection for Jack (McCarthy)—a man who would be a credit to the State of California . . . it's obvious I think myself a little better."

He quoted former President Dwight D. Eisenhower saying, "Every American should make politics their part-time profession."

Asked to explain the duties of lieutenant governor, Christopher said the lieutenant governor presides over the senate, and is a member of the board of regents of the University of California, of the state lands commission, and of the interstate cooperation commission.

"I think it is about time the office be restored to eminence, importance and effectiveness," said the mayor. "It can be if there is cohesion and understanding between governor and lieutenant governor. . . . If a lieutenant governor is worthy of his salt, he can be of tremendous value to the State of California. If there is no confidence on the part of the government, he becomes a non-entity and just sits there hoping for the governor to pass on to greater horizons."

Asked to define an "extremist," Mayor Christopher said: "I think a man who believes in everything John Birch says is an extremist on that side. Welch is an extremist. Our great danger today lies in pointing all of our attention to people like Welch and forgetting there is a great danger on the extreme left."

At one point Christopher complimented Mill Valley Councilman George D. Monardo for taking an interest in his local government and for giving advice to the City of San Francisco in respect to hospital administration. Monardo is administrator of Franklin Hospital.

Questioned on pseudo-liberalism, Christopher said he did not agree with Arthur Schlesinger Jr.'s theories, and added "Sometimes liberality goes too far." For example, he said, he did not believe policemen had the right to go on strike.

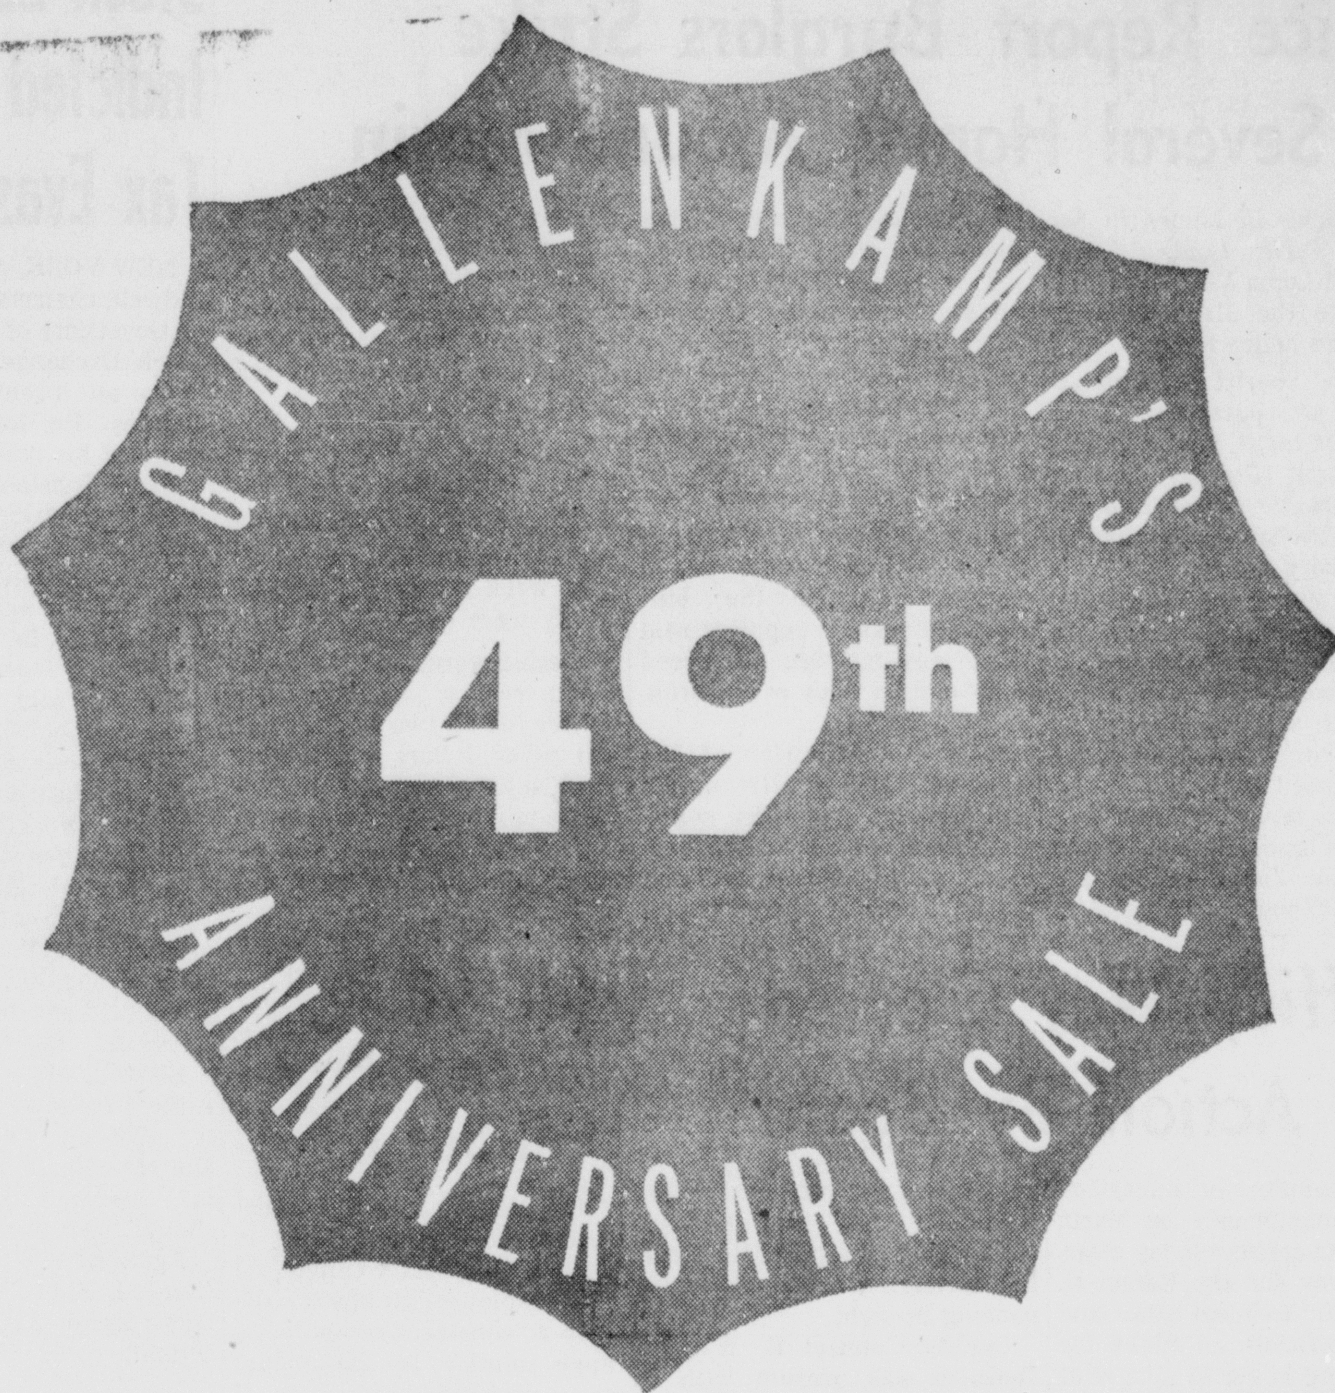

Mrs. Jo Schlesinger of Homestead asked Christopher to explain his thought process in a train of associations regarding pseudo-liberalism and Arthur Schlesinger.

"You imply I said he (Schlesinger) was a Communist," said Christopher. "I would like to remind you again that Norman Thomas said that little by little under the guise of socialism, we may wake up and find ourselves living under communism. Some Communists would never admit they are Communists. But it is all a matter of interpretation."

The mayor said all social legislation that has been a benefit to California has come from the Republican Party.

Mrs. Joyce Gross, founder and leader of the group, presided.

For almost half a century, Gallenkamp's has been serving California families with comfort, style, and quality . . . at money-saving prices.

Police Report Burglars Strike At Several Homes Around Marin

Burglaries in homes in San Rafael, Terra Linda, Greenbrae and Loma Verde were reported to the Marin sheriff's office and police today.

Deputy Sheriff William Johansen, on patrol in Terra Linda last night, almost caught a boy about 15 years old after he apparently broke into the home of Richard W. Graham at 401 Hickory Lane.

He saw the youth walking east on Freitas Parkway between Del Ganado and Las Padas about 8:25 p.m. When the youth saw the deputy, he jumped over a wooden fence and vanished.

Graham reported $10 in half-dollars missing and his home ransacked. Johansen found four checkbooks belonging to

Mrs. Graham near the fence where the youth disappeared.

Two build-in electric ovens, two automatic dishwashers and other equipment valued at a total of $1,000 were taken over the weekend from new and unoccupied homes at 910 and 920 Calle Paseo, Loma Verde, the sheriff's office reported.

Janet Wynn, secretary of Trousdale Construction Co. in Novato, reported the burglaries. Sheriff's deputies said there was no sign of forced entry and no window was broken.

Norman C. Schwien of 155 Almenar Drive, Greenbrae, told the sheriff's office someone ransacked the master bedroom at his home between 5 p.m. Saturday and 2 a.m.

Sunday and took an undetermined amount of jewelry, two portable radios, a case of whiskey and a camera and projector. Loss was set at $250 to $300. A window in a garage was found pried open.

Irving Mello Sousa of 148 Villa Avenue, San Rafael, told police yesterday that his home had been ransacked during the past week while he and his family were out of town.

Missing were a portable television set, a sterling silver service for 12, two clock radios, two silver dollars and a quart of whisky. No estimate of value of the missing items was given. Police said the home was entered through an unlocked rear screen door.

Dufficy Way Cleared For Action By Board

A "resolution of intention" passed unanimously by Marin County supervisors today cleared the way for Dr. Rafael G. Dufficy Jr. to meet state and federal officials on plans for his nursing home to take over county patients.

Dufficy said he had both sessions scheduled for today—one with State Board of Hospitals at 11:30 a.m., another at 2:30 p.m. which might produce Federal Housing Administration financing.

"I've got to move fast to give your board our promised plans within 30 days," said Dufficy. He added that if his FHA deal fell through he had other financing in sight.

County Counsel E. Warren McGuire was present with a draft resolution covering points previously agreed between Dufficy and the board.

It said Dufficy intended to build a minimum 90-bed facility under regulations of the state hospital bureau for licensing, with certification by the State Department of Social Welfare, to be completed by March 1, 1963. Charge would be $350 per patient monthly for the first six months, employing as many of present county hospital staff members as possible. The county declares intention to transfer its patients and close the present Lucas Valley facility except for possible new uses.

Rest Home Proposal Due Planners

Plans for a 30-bed home for the aged will be reviewed Monday by the Marin County Planning Commission.

A use permit to build the convalescent hospital on a 34,000-square-foot site at San Pablo Avenue and Tarrant Court in Santa Venetia has been requested by Doreen M. Nelson, The hospital would include quarters for four nurses and a director.

Mrs. Nelson operates the Marin Manor Rest Home, a 15-bed hospital, at 10 Pacheco Avenue, San Rafael. The home, built seven years ago, must be removed for widening of Highway 101.

The site of the new rest home is zoned for apartments. Planning commissioners will consider the use permit request as item on the agenda of their meeting which begins at 9 a.m.

Weight-Lifter Lifts Weights?

A strong-armed burglar or burglars lifted about 400 pounds in weight-lifting equipment from a College of Marin quonset hut, college business manager Norman Bird reported to the sheriff yesterday afternoon.

The weights and equipment were stored in a quonset hut formerly occupied by the Marine Corps Reserve across College Avenue from the college football field.

The thieves broke a window in the rear door to enter. Missing are weights ranging from 25 pounds to one and one-fourth pounds, several sets of dumbbells, and iron boots.

The loss is valued at $165 to $200.

Car-Theft Suspect Pleads Innocent

Bernard Duane Montbriand, 24, of 14 Sentinel Court, San Rafael, has pleaded innocent in Marin Superior Court to car theft and Judge Thomas F. Keating set April 3 for his trial.

On motion of Asst. Public Defender Jerome C. Durham, the judge reduced Montbriand's bail from $2,000 to $1,000.

Montbriand was arrested Feb. 1 in a car stolen from Frances Jessica Falcon of 225 Canal Street, San Rafael.

On Recovery Ship

Raymond J. Muller, Navy radioman third class, son of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond J. Muller of 38 Caledonia Street, Sausalito, is serving aboard the destroyer Stribling which participated in the recovery operations of the "Project Mercury" orbital space flight.

Sausalito Recall Petitions Doing Well, Reagan Says

"Things are going very nicely," Russell S. Reagan said today in regard to his collecting signatures on petitions for recall of Sausalito Mayor Philip S. Ehrlich Jr. and Councilman Michael Harris.

The Sausalito insurance broker would not divulge the number of names he has collected since he started last Thursday.

He said he is collecting signatures as one of 20 persons and that, according to city code, he must get 833, or one-fourth of the registered voters. They must be turned into City Clerk Charles A. Brown by March 17.

Reagan has charged the councilmen with "mis-use of office."

Man Is Injured In 2-Car Novato Crash

Leslie Lauren Lusk, 23, of Hayward, was cut on the head and suffered injury to his left knee in a two-car accident at 7:30 a.m. today on Diablo Avenue at Highway 101 in Novato.

Lusk was driving north on Diablo Avenue when his car collided with one driven by Wesley Madsen, 44, of 711 Diablo Avenue, Novato, turning from Highway 101 onto Diablo Avenue, Novato police reported.

Prospective Buyer, Used Car Disappear

San Rafael police today were looking for a 1957 Chevrolet which disappeared for a used car lot at noon yesterday when a prospective buyer asked to "drive it around the block."

Robert E. Smith, salesman for Redwood Motors at 1826 Fourth Street, said a man about 23 years old, identifying himself as Larry Chapman, asked to try the car, priced at $1,095. Neither car nor driver has been seen since, Smith told police.

Mill Valley Teacher Pay Unit Set Up

Mill Valley School District trustees decided last night to set up a joint salary committee with employee groups to develop a "constructive and long-range solution to the annual salary problem."

Trustees Joyce Gross and Dr. William Clark will represent the board. Also to be on the committee will be three members of the Mill Valley Teachers' Assn., one from the Classified School Employees Assn., and Asst. Supt. Leo B. Edson.

Board chairman George M. Wood called for the study, saying a "revision of compensation standards for all employees is essential."

"I think that teachers should have salaries high enough to have respect in the community. The district needs a salary schedule which will allow us to obtain and retain the best available instructors," agreed Clark. Other board members concurred.

Supt. G. Robert McConnell said today that Mill Valley is 34th in a list of 37 similar sized school districts in the Bay Area in pay scales.

Redwood High Elects Class Officers

After many run-offs, students of Redwood High School have elected class officers for the spring semester.

The freshmen had high voting percentage of 59 per cent. Other turnouts were as follows: sophomore, 43 per cent; junior and senior, both 42.

Stock Leader Indicted For Tax Evasion

NEW YORK (AP) — J. Truman Bidwell, chairman of the Board of Governors of the New York Stock Exchange, was indicted today on income tax evasion charges. He immediately announced his resignation.

Keith Funston, exchange president, said Bidwell had drawn up his resignation Feb. 1, in anticipation of government action against him. He was said to be aware of the income tax investigation.

Funston said the board decided it would be unfair to accept the resignation while the tax investigation was under way and when there were no actual charges against Bidwell.

A federal grand jury returned a two-count indictment against Bidwell, who has been a governor of the exchange since 1958 and board chairman since last May 15.

Bidwell, 58, was accused of filing a fraudulent joint return for 1956 on behalf of himself and his wife, in which he listed tax due as $28,116 when it should have been $59,545.

Again in 1957, the complaint charged, Bidwell falsely listed taxes due of $26,919, when he actually owed $51,398.

Loma Verda Rec Plans Get Set Back

Opposition to the proposed Loma Verde recreation and swimming center last night caused the Novato Planning Commission to hold the plan for further study.

A petition bearing 50 signatures opposing the center was presented. About 40 persons present on the issue proved divided about evenly for and against.

The planning commission will hold a special meeting at 12:15 p.m. Thursday to go over the site of the proposed center. Their findings will be discussed at the March 12 commission meeting.

The site of the proposed center is not in accordance with the master plan of the area, said opponents. Most said they favored recreation, but not on that site. The master plan shows a recreation center site farther west.

Most of those opposing the center live on Calle Arboleda, site of the proposed center.

Trousdale Construction Co. has offered the 5.25-acre site to the Loma Verde Homeowners Assn. for $2,000, reported Carl Du Bose, chairman of the association's recreation committee. He said the association could not afford the site shown on the master plan. However, he did not give the cost of it.

In other action, the planners:

1. Set a special meeting next Monday night to study a proposed all-commercial zone and land use in the master plan.
2. Approved a tentative map of Lynnwood Heights Unit 2 on South Novato Boulevard.
3. Approved the tentative map of Novato Hills Unit 2 of 35 acres.
4. Granted Joseph R. Filippo permission to construct a 63-by-70 foot commercial building at 3440 Redwood Highway adjacent to Yankee Trader Furniture Store. However, it continued his application for architectural supervision until March 12.
5. Granted Henry Kaehler permission to build an addition to his cabinet shop at 855 Vallejo Street, to be used as a four-car garage.

Stolen Auto Is Recovered

A Marinites' new automobile which disappeared from a motel parking lot in Sacramento Feb. 10, was recovered over the weekend in Woodland, undamaged and with even a thermos bottle untouched in the back seat.

Rufus Rhoades of San Rafael said his car had been spotted in a parking lot opposite the police station in Woodland. Police apprehended two youths sitting in the car with the keys in the lock.

The youths said they just "wanted to see how it felt to sit in a new car." They were released.

[Another Public Service Venture By Rainier Ale]

COACH STAHL WANTS YOU TO WALK TO SEATTLE!

Yes, this is your chance to win a free trip to the Century 21 World's Fair! And the beauty of it is you will be able to enjoy the great out of doors every step of the 1000 miles from the Opera House in San Francisco to Seattle and the Space Needle. What finer way to reassure man that he will still be able to fill his lungs with fresh air amidst the marvels of the 21st Century?

However, man does not live by breath alone. In line with Rainier Ale's policy of combining the cultural with the vigorously masculine, you will, of course, be wearing one of our Beethoven, Bach, or Brahms Sweatshirts* as the glorious miles trudge by. Expenses en route will be paid; you will be fully equipped from sweatshirt to shoes. On arrival at the Fair each of you will receive a crisp $1000 bill from an official (at the very least) of the Seattle Fair in recognition of your services to music.

All this if you can qualify as one of the three man team to leave San Francisco the day the fair opens, April 21, 1962, and arrive whenever you get there. Applicants must be between 21 and 65 and have about three months to spare so they won't have to hurry; this is no race. Coach Stahl, pictured above, is against walking for any reasons except pleasure and physical improvement. He moreover feels that this project, in line as it is with the President's fitness program, would be self-defeating if the walkers arrived too pooped to have a nice time at the Fair.

We are fortunate indeed in having John F. (Old Iron Legs) Stahl, Rainier Ale's Athaletic Director, as mentor of our squad. Coach Stahl, the dean of American walkers, has already made the arduous trip himself in a "dry run" (a figure of speech, since he gratifyingly believes Our Product to be an adornment to the training table). Mr. Stahl, 79—he intends to spend his 80th birthday on the road to the Fair—has made walking his career since being retired from the Postoffice for physical disability in 1935. He has covered 17,832 miles the hard way during the last 27 years. His walking feats on three continents include a 3,000 miler from the Canal Zone to Austin, Texas and from Fatima, Portugal, via Lourdes, to Rome. He has received many honors in recognition of his prowess, viz., he is a Papal Knight of St. Gregory and an Honorary Texas Ranger. He credits his longevity and excellent physique to walking and is anxious to inculcate an appreciation of its pleasures in young people. "The Twist is no substitute," says he, "the action is faulty."

Of the Seattle Walk Coach Stahl says "Hitch-hikers need not apply; we do not need their sort." Those of you who are interested in joining him at the San Francisco training camp should have your applications in no later than April 9th. Write: Mr. John F. Stahl, c/o Rainier Ale, Seattle, Washington. Coach Stahl will require the data customary in affairs of this sort—age, occupation, photograph, shoe size, previous experience in long distance walking, if any; and, without seeming to pry, a report on the general condition of your health. In a pinch he would be willing to accept your say-so in this area, however a report from your personal physician would be preferable. We like to acknowledge the primacy of the medical profession in corporal matters whenever we can. It only seems fair. Oh, one other thing: men only. Happy Walking!

[OUR PRODUCT]

*You may still buy one—and we now have Mozart, too—by sending $4.00 to: Sweatshirts, Rainier Ale, Box S3134SR, Seattle 14, Washington. Specify composer and size; either Male or Female.

Since you are making the trip anyway perhaps you won't mind doing a service for us, too: return a Rainier Ale empty to the brewery; a purely symbolic gesture to remind you who put up the $1000.

Rainier Ale itself is for men only, or so we like to think. It has a strong male flavor and a strong male color. Therefore it should not be swilled down, but drunk with the same respect as a highball. Our Product is now available on the West Coast only, but soon N.Y., and after that who knows?

A lecture and discussion series for small business owners and managers will start March 6 at College of Marin.

The series has been organized by the college adult school in cooperation with various Marin chambers of commerce and the U.S. Small Business Administration.

The theme for the series, which includes nine conferences and will run through May 8, is "how to increase profit through practical management." At each meeting an informal talk, including case histories, will be given by experienced business educators, Dr. Ellsworth R. Briggs, adult school dean, said.

The class will meet from 7:30 to 10 p.m. on Tuesdays in room

Sanction For Hospital Strike Delayed, Board Action Awaited

Sanction for a strike by non-nursing employees of San Rafael General Hospital was delayed today until Monday while union members awaited action by the hospital's board.

Hospital Administrator John H. Prescott agreed to learn whether the board would agree to conciliation by the State Conciliation Service or a locally appointed committee, said Hugh Cassidy, secretary of the Marin County Labor Council.

The council last night deferred action on a request for strike sanction by Hospital Workers Union Local 250, Cassidy said. Thomas Kelly, union business agent, agreed to wait while Prescott conferred with the board.

The union has asked a $15-a-month, across-the-board increase for more than 30 employees, Cassidy said.

Since its establishment by the Wine Advisory Board in 1942 a total of 386,114 persons have enrolled in its wine study course.

RALPH RICHARDSON
Third candidate to visit

ON CAMPAIGN TRAIL Schools Candidate Richardson Speaks

Dr. Ralph Richardson, UCLA English professor and president of the Los Angeles City Board of Education, visited Marin County yesterday in behalf of his candidacy for state superintendent of public instruction.

Richardson, third candidate for the post to visit here in recent weeks, spoke to the Marin County Elementary School Administrators Assn. at Santa Venetia School yesterday afternoon following informal meetings with Tamalpais Union High School administrators and members of the county schools staff.

Richardson, 43, is a native of Kansas who came to California in 1948 after receiving his Ph.D. from Northwestern University at Evanston, Ill., in speech and history. He is married and has four children in Los Angeles public schools.

He has been at University of California at Los Angeles since 1948, except for leaves of absence for such things as nine months as Gov. Edmund G. Brown's research secretary at the start of the Brown administration. He is an associate professor of English.

He is now in his first year of his second four-year term on the Los Angeles school board. He was re-elected in the primaries last year over seven other candidates, polling 54 per cent of the vote. He is the board's president.

The issues in the race to replace retiring Supt. Roy A. Simpson are all involved with leadership and service to public education, Richardson believes.

"The job of state superintendent is much more than merely an administrative one," he declared. "The superintendent must represent education before the legislature, gather a team around him to improve the curriculum, and be prepared to both battle and lead in the changing, educational picture today."

As to California's public education, Richardson said, "We can improve it, but we aren't doing a bad job." His special goal, however, is to "improve the teaching of spelling and English grammar. We need to teach them so that a student can appreciate their value."

Although he had favored a state superintendent, appointed by a state board of education with longer terms of office, he has been impressed with the interaction of a candidate with the public.

"I have learned things about the real issues thus far in this campaign that I would never have learned if I had been appointed to the job," he said.

Schools Unification Plan Approved By County Group

Unification of Tomales High School District and seven Marin-Sonoma elementary districts — excluding the Bolinas Beach Elementary School District — was approved 16 to 0 last night by the Augustine County Committee on School District Organization.

The proposal was virtually the same as that rejected last November by the State Board of Education and sent back to the committee for further study.

Approval of the proposal followed a public hearing on unification which would have included the Bolinas-Stinson district. The proposal was defeated with only representatives from Bolinas-Stinson and West Marin districts voting in favor.

Absent from last night's meeting, which about 150 persons attended, were committee members Adele J. Alpers, Robert Rogers and Dr. Robert Winfield.

Under the unification proposal approved last night, the West Marin area would have three of seven trustees in the new district. The proposal rejected last year by the state would have given the area only two trustees.

Also recommended was setting of a maximum tax rate for the new district and assumption by the new district of all outstanding bonded indebtedness of individual districts.

The tax rate cannot be set until the unification is complete since the rate must be computed from assessed valuation and tax rates of all districts involved during the year prior to unification. The earliest possible date for unification would be in July, 1963.

The proposal must be approved by the Sonoma County Committee on School District Organization which meets at 8 p.m. March 6 at Twin Hills School in Sebastopol. If approved by the state, the question would go to a vote in all districts involved.

ANTI-RED DRIVE STARTS IN MARIN

Signatures Sought For Vote On Amendment Barring Communists

The drive for signatures to put an "anti-subversive" amendment to the state constitution to vote of the people in November was opened today in Marin County.

Named as co-chairman was Mrs. A. V. Barbera of San Anselmo, and as treasurer, Walter J. Eager, Santa Venetia accountant. The two were selected at a recent meeting in San Rafael, Kirkpatrick said.

The proposed amendment, called the Louis Francis

Many Uses Suggested For Alcatraz; None For Bridge!

Ever since a Congressional committee began pondering whether to spend four million dollars on rehabilitation hundreds of people have been working to find a future use for Alcatraz Island, the San Francisco Bay federal prison for dangerous convicts.

Some see it as additional recreational acreage. Others want to perpetuate its morbid history with visits to cells and dungeons, perhaps adding some Mme. Tussaud-type waxwork figures of some of its best known inmates. Many other uses have been proposed—but let's all be thankful that no qualified authority, to date, has suggested it as a waypoint on a transbay bridge.

There would be precedent even for this. Emperor Norton planned a bridge to the Farallons. Lately there has been talk of a multi-hundred million dollar bridge from San Francisco to Tiburon.

For over a century, "The Rock" has been of special interest to tourists and residents, although none wanted to stay there. After it was named with the Spanish version of "Pelican" by Explorer Alaya in 1775, Alcatraz was part of the harbor defense plan of the Spanish and Mexicans. But most of its use has been as a prison, by Spain, Mexico and the United States.

Necessity for a long swim through cold water, with an eight-mile tidal current, has discouraged escapes. Only one successful escape has been officially recorded and that came to light oddly enough as a result of patriotism.

Prior to housing Capones and similar federal prisoners, Alcatraz for years was an Army Disciplinary Barracks, for long-term convicts. One inmate was assigned to carpentry. He used chips and sawdust to study currents, plus a plank for his getaway.

The escapee enlisted under an assumed name for World War I, rose to sergeant with a good battle record. Then, to clear his conscience, he told the story. He was given a short sentence for "fraudulent enlistment."

Whether the study will spend millions for reconstruction, or whether its approximately 250 inmates will be moved elsewhere remains to be decided. But no matter what happens, "The Rock" will have a compelling, speculative and morbid interest to the throngs crossing the Golden Gate Bridge.

Still No Place To Hide

The sirens that cities and counties installed to warn Americans of impending missile or bombing attack are inadequate, a Defense Department executive advised a Congressional military operations subcommittee. He contends only one per cent would hear the warning wails—and only a few of these would know what they meant.

He stated there is a new plan to place small electrical alarms in the wiring of every American home, school and office building; that civil defense officials are working with manufacturers and utility firms to begin installation within seven months.

The cost is estimated at five hundred million dollars.

Thus far, there is nothing definite as to where people go, after hearing the warning.

MARIN LOOKS AT POLITICS

Cox Is Out, Casey Is In Race For GOP Congressional Bid

By CHAPIN A. DAY

A new name has been added and an earlier one withdrawn from the Republican scramble for a congressional candidate. Tom Cox, manager of the Santa Rosa Chamber of Commerce, withdrew his name from consideration after having "looked into the situation." He said he found that his recent arrival from a long stay in Canada, he came down only three years ago, gave his opponents "a built in issue" which would be too great a handicap for a candidate. So he isn't going to be one.

He won't be in Ukiah Saturday to present his name to the Republicans' First Congressional District Committee endorsing session.

The new man, who probably will appear before the committee, is Richard C. Casey of Thomas Court, Ross. Casey is the youngest, 33, of the candidates who have thus far evaded an interest in Rep. Clem Miller's job. He is an account advisor for Dean Witter and Co., stock brokers and investment bankers in San Francisco.

'CHIP' DAY

WITH A NAME like Casey, he should have no trouble with the Irish vote, especially seeing as how he married an O'Malley, Evelyn (Tykie) O'Malley, right after he graduated from Air Force flying school in the fall of 1953. (For TV enthusiasts, Tykie's brother is one of those fellows who does slay stunts on "Candid Camera".)

Casey entered the Air Force after leaving his business administration studies at Northwestern University near his native city of Chicago. He enlisted in November 1950 and drew supply duty while he wangled an appointment to flying school.

After graduating as a pilot, he was assigned to Japan and flew Flying Boxcar missions throughout Japan, Korea, Formosa and down into Indochina. His wife joined him in Japan and two of their four children were born there. (The fifth's expected before too long.)

CASEY, BY THEN a first lieutenant, was separated from the Air Force early in 1956 and for a year and a half was in commercial real estate in Chicago. Then he came to the West Coast and joined Dean Witter.

He became interested in politics when the Marin Republican Alliance was formed a few years back, and now is a member of its board of directors.

Classing himself as a "conservative," he thinks Congressman Miller has "failed to represent the people of our district." He thinks he can do a better job.

Perhaps he'll tell the Ukiah meeting exactly how he'd go about it.

A PROSPECTIVE candidate we mentioned in this space a couple weeks ago has decided not to make a race of it. Don Emerson of Forest Lake, Lake County, has decided, so we're told, that he won't seek the Lake-Mendocino Senate seat now held by Democrat Waverly Jack Slattery.

WHAT OUR READERS SAY

Why Unification Not Supported

EDITOR, Independent-Journal:

I wish to take this opportunity to clarify some of the statements attributed to me in the report of the Reed Union School District board meeting of Feb. 13. My letter to the board stated: "I question the desirability of this proposed unified district on the basis of financial savings, local control, or the creation of a miniature copy of what we already have. The only basis I support is the one which uses as its first premise: 'a major challenge to traditional educational processes. Even this basis is fraught with professional and public objections. Dr. Edwards has stated that very limited research has been done on the results of such an approach to secondary education. No objective evaluation of the total effect on learning is available.'"

I further stated: "Justification on the basis of local control is shortsighted and impractical. The argument that the alternative approaches to unification would stifle the development of our goals does not do justice to other communities in our area. Local control for its own sake is not, in my opinion, sufficient reason to support desirability."

With regard to Richard MacLaury's further use of figures purporting to show a disparity between costs to Reed taxpayers and other areas of the Tamalpais Union High School District, my letter stated:

"Financial savings to the taxpayers of Reed as related to the cost per pupil factor, is not a worthy argument in favor of desirability. These figures were deliberately omitted from the committee's report. They are misleading and contrary to every principle of free public education in the United States. These figures should not be used publicly or privately, as they will seriously prejudice the true basis of any unification program."

The full text of my letter appears in the Tiburon Peninsula Pelican. I hope interested citizens will read it, along with the committee's report. It was written to stimulate thinking on this most vital public issue.

Elderly Persons Home Wonderful

EDITOR, Independent-Journal:

I had the honor to receive an invitation to be present at the dedication of the Nazareth House. This dedication was held Sunday, Feb. 18 at about 3 p.m.

The attendance was the most magnificent sight to behold. In my life I have seen crowds, but they were for something like football or baseball games. But here was a dedication of a home for elderly persons to be solemnly brought into this world by dignitaries of the Catholic Church to serve in the future for those who have passed quite a few milestones in their life.

The facilities offered to the future tenants are wonderful, comfortable and warm in outlook.

Due to the enormous crowd, I was not able to see the actual dedication, however I did hear over a loudspeaker system some of the speakers. The only sour note was struck by the person representing Governor Brown. Instead of extolling what had been done here he praised his own endeavors which he has been doing since he became governor.

Cheers Railroad Stand Because...

EDITOR, Independent-Journal:

I wish to extend my public and heartfelt thanks to officials of the Northwestern Pacific who are trying to abandon service to Marin County.

It has been evident to most intelligent citizens that the Bay Area is one of the hottest areas of expansion in the U. S. It is inconceivable to me that the Bay Area should grow at such a speed and Marin County not share in this growth, especially with rail service available. Even the Chavez Ravine had to go.

I imagine such growth might even be profitable to a railroad company, which seems to be able to estimate future profits only from straight-line extrapolation of past history.

As a lover of countywide tranquility I have viewed this danger of encroaching industrialism with great alarm, bringing with it all the hustle and bustle of businessmen in pursuit of the burgeoning profits. I have shuddered at the thought of having the serenity of Boyd Park shattered by an underground garage.

I have in vain thought of elaborate but foolhardy schemes to delay the inevitable. Imagine my pleasant surprise at finding my savior among the moguls of the Northwestern Pacific.

Of course I will have to pay heavier taxes for my tranquility, but you can't have everything. So again, I offer my most sincere thanks to the Northwestern Pacific.

I-J Lauded On 'Right To Know'

EDITOR, Independent-Journal:

Your editorial Feb. 21 was particularly outstanding. In particular, the last paragraph should be in block letters, a mile high. The "peoples right to know" goes hand in hand with freedom.

We all know that there are instances where information, especially of a scientific nature, should be classified "confidential" or "top-secret." No patriotic citizen will object to a proper classification of this material, but we all know that there have been instances where incompetence, and worse, was covered up under the guise of "security, information." It would be indeed, a formidable task for tyranny to rear its ugly head, as long as there exists a free press, able to print the truth, and open, impartial courts, and last but not least, unfettered churches.

Inter-River Battle Rages Over Washington's Dollar Throwing

THE FEB. 22 ISSUE of the Independent-Journal started many arguments all over Marin County. We even hear of one case where the argument threatened to break up one happy home in Novato.

On page 2 was a news story about the silver dollar that George Washington is supposed to have thrown across the Rappahannock River.

The front page of the Corte Madera Shopping Center special green section shows Washington throwing a dollar across the Potomac River.

So it brought up arguments all over on which river is reported to have thrown that silver dollar. Was it the Rappahannock or the Potomac?

I have heard that history books record it both ways. Me, personally, I have always heard it the Potomac, so I stand by that school of thought. Now, of course, there are those who think that it was the Rappahannock, and they may be right.

Does anyone actually know which it was?

DR. PETER FARMER of All Saints Episcopal Church at Carmel, who performed the marriage ceremony for John Fell Stevenson a week ago, is the same Peter Farmer who organized the Saint Francis of Assisi Episcopal Church in Novato and was its first vicar.

A few short days ago, I saw that San Rafael police objected to young men from the military academy being out before sunrise to do track work.

Somewhere in the back of my mind, this doesn't make sense. I always thought that the curfew was to keep wayward boys from staying out at night getting into mischief. Now it seems that it is also intended to keep strong young athletic boys from doing any exercising before their school duties started during the day.

What with the president and everybody else deploring the physical condition of American youth, why should we make it even more difficult for some young men who want to keep fit? And how about the newspaper boys out delivering papers before daylight? Are they also violating the law?

ALONG SIMILAR LINES, did you ever notice how many schools are entered over weekends? Of course there are some locks broken and occasionally some pilfering, like food from the kitchen.

Apparently the main object in these break-ins is to use the multipurpose room. All of North Marin County and probably some other areas in the county need recreational facilities for the youth.

I don't know exactly how it could be worked, but it seems like the school district could find some way of leaving the multipurpose rooms open for the kids to play in them. There might have to be a part-time supervisor from a recreational district here Saturdays. But would the kids, playing in a public building meant for play, do more harm than they do in breaking the locks on these same buildings just to get in?

An honor system for older grades might work. There isn't much there that could be hurt and on stormy weekends, the kids would have some place to play. It seems to me that it would be better to open public school gyms for playing, rather than having kids break in just to play there.

America, Russia Facing Big Farm Problems—Which Differ Totally

BOTH WE AND THEY, the free societies and the communists, are contending with a farm problem. Their problem is how to produce enough — ours, what to do with too much.

They find that under regimentation and control, farmers lack incentive to produce. For some 30 years we have used government controls and subsidies to hold up prices in an effort to protect the farmers' incomes from the consequences of too much supply and too little demand. Overall result has been still more supply, resulting in lower incomes for most farmers and huge, costly surpluses.

The farm problem, as we have known it since Coolidge and Hoover, exists also in Western Europe. It is the most difficult of all the issues which must be settled if there is to be a degree of economic unity in the free world. Agricultural questions make it most difficult to work out some form of economic union — for the six countries in the Common Market, the so-called Outer Seven, the British Commonwealth, the United States, Latin America and Japan.

IN DEALING with unsolved problems, the first step toward eventual solution is to isolate and define the crux of the problem. Economists have done that. But it may be some time before public men, who have to face the voters, will think it prudent to publish the economists' bad news. The bad news is that there are more farmers trying to make a living on the land than our modern scientific agriculture requires.

In his farm message, the president ventured onto this new and politically dangerous ground, pointing out that out of three and one-half million farmers, one and one-half million produce 87 per cent of total production. They could easily produce also the 13 per cent now produced by the other two million. There are nearly twice as many farmers as needed for efficient production.

Just as cities are swallowing villages, and the metropolis is swallowing cities, so industrial farms with their machinery and technology swallow traditional farms.

THIS REVOLUTION cannot be stopped or turned back by any farm program that Congress could vote or the Treasury could afford. In view of the many demands on our national strength, we cannot, even if we wished, indulge in the waste of precious human resources by production of crops at high prices for storage.

A realistic farm policy is not an attempt to rig the market, or to insulate it from competition. In reality it will have to be a welfare program for retiring farmers and their children, and for land which must also be retired from agriculture. We need to encourage the young people from less productive rural areas to leave farming for other occupations. Education plays the leading role. Direct incentives can be offered to encourage the shift away from farming.

The farm problem should be approached not as an annoying and somewhat tragic muddle, but as a great opportunity.

ALMANAC

Today is Tuesday, Feb. 27, the 58th day of the year with 307 to follow in 1962.

The moon is in its last quarter.

There are no morning or evening stars.

On this day in history:

In 1860, Abraham Lincoln made his first speech in the East, and spoke on slavery.

In 1932, scientists were excited over the announcement that a British scientist had discovered the neutron.

In 1939, the U. S. Supreme Court outlawed "sit-down strikes."

In 1942, the battle of the Java Sea began. It was won ultimately by the Japanese who sank 13 warships compared to a loss of two in their Navy.

A thought for the day: Abraham Lincoln said: "While the people retain their virtue and vigilance, no administration, by any extreme of wickedness or folly, can very seriously injure the government in the short space of four years."

Now that the Yankees have the M&M tandem neatly under contract, the major league signing spotlight can swing to C & C.

Roger Maris' decision to sign with the Yankees for $72,000 (joining Mickey Mantle, who long ago settled with pleasure for an $82,000 contract) left baseball with three key players to satisfy — Norm Cash and

Yank Payroll Soars As Rog Gets $72,000

FORT LAUDERDALE, Fla. (AP) — The skyrocketing New York Yankee payroll, highest in the major leagues, reached unprecedented heights today following the signing of Roger Maris to a $72,000 contract for 1962.

With four players earning $50,000 or better and 10 others receiving $20,000 or more, the Yankee payroll is a record $800,000.

The mighty rajah, who hit 61 home runs in '61, for a one-season major league high, received a 96 per cent increase yesterday. He was paid $37,500 last year.

Rocky Colavito of the Detroit Tigers and Orlando Cepeda of the San Francisco Giants.

Ironically, each of the C's is included in the select company most think might challenge the record 61 home runs Maris clubbed last year to set himself up for the nearly 100 per cent raise he got from Yankee general manager Roy Hamer in Fort Lauderdale, Fla., yesterday.

Both Cash, who led the American League in hitting with a .361 average, and Colavito, who crashed 45 homers and drove in 140 runs, are working out informally with the Tigers at their Lakeland, Fla., base. But Colavito particularly is being tough to deal with.

"I've reached the saturation point with Colavito," said Rick Ferrell, the Tiger vice president who handles the salary negotiations. Ferrell said he has countered Colavito's rejections with three increases without reaching the figure Rocky has in mind. Colavito reportedly wants at least a $15,000 raise to $50,000.

Cepeda, who hit .311 and powered 46 home runs and drove in 142, wants the Giants to double his salary to $50,000.

Beside Maris, who will begin working out with the Yanks tomorrow, signers yesterday included fiery Jim Piersall, for a reported salary of $45,000 with the Washington Senators.

No Excuses, Say Stanford, Cal Coaches

PALO ALTO (AP)—Coaches of the California and Stanford basketball teams make no excuses for losing to UCLA, the team that already has clinched at least a tie for the Big Five championship.

"We played our best game of the year against UCLA," declared California Coach Rene Herreras, whose Bears lost to the Uclans by a 68-62 count.

Coach Howie Dallmar of Stanford, loser by 75-65 on Saturday night added, "Our fellows were so high for that game that if John Glenn had been in orbit, there may have been a traffic problem."

BRUINS PRAISED
Both Herreras and Dallmar figure UCLA will give strong representation to the conference if the Bruins win the title and play in the NCAA western regionals.

"UCLA has too many threats to allow you to stack your defenses," Herreras told the Northern California Basketball Writers Assn. yesterday. "If they go into the regionals, they may surprise a lot of people."

The Bruins have three games remaining, all on the road—against Washington, Stanford and California. One victory or one loss by either Stanford or Southern California gives the Bruins the title.

GAEL HONORED
Tom Sheridan of St. Mary's, whose two key field goals in the final minute beat Loyola 65-64, was honored by the writers as the area's player of the week. The victory put the St. Mary's record at 6-2, still in position to catch Pepperdine, the West Coast Athletic Conference leader at 8-1.

In WCAC action tonight, the University of San Francisco plays at University of the Pacific while San Jose State and Santa Clara meet at the San Jose Civic Auditorium.

Parry O'Brien Quits Shot Putting Ranks

LOS ANGELES (AP)—He has been hinting at it for some time, and now Parry O'Brien has made it official: He is retiring from shot putting.

The 30-year-old former University of Southern California weight man said yesterday he is giving up the shot but will maintain his amateur status and throw the discus in several meets this year.

The powerful Buckeyes, with two-time All-America Jerry Lucas scoring 27 points, clinched the Big Ten title and along with it a berth in the NCAA tournament last night by outclassing Iowa 72-62 at Iowa City. John Havlicek added 24

Saints Get Another Shot At K.C. Team

OAKLAND (AP)—San Francisco's Saints try for the third time in four days to whip front-running Kansas City tonight.

The Steers walloped the Saints 124-113 at Kansas City last night, stretching their lead to 6½ games over second-place San Francisco. The Steers also beat the Saints Saturday night.

Paced by Biff Bridges, who scored 42 points, Kansas City raced from a 51-50 halftime edge last night to a 90-71 margin in the third period.

High man for the Saints in the American Basketball League game was Whitey Bell with 24 points.

In last night's other American Basketball League clash, Chicago trounced Hawaii 97-77. Tonight, in addition to the Saints-Steers game to be played at Oakland, Cleveland will be at New York and Chicago at Hawaii.

No National Basketball Assn. games were played last night, but this evening Syracuse will be at New York, Philadelphia at St. Louis, Detroit at Los Angeles and Boston and Chicago will battle at St. Louis.

Mays On Third—But All In Fun

CASA GRANDE, Ariz. (AP)—"Now what are you guys doing? You know I'm not going to play third base," cracked center-fielder Willie Mays to reporters.

But that's where the $90,000, a-year star was playing during yesterday's workout of the San Francisco Giants here.

No one really expects Mays at third when the National League season opens. You might say... it was just for fun.

But the outfielder handled himself like a pro, scooping up the hot grounders with time for an occasional jibe at the press.

"You get that? You get that one all right?" he asked a cameraman.

Off the playing field, things weren't as rosy for Horace Stoneham, Giants' president. Orlando Cepeda, the loop's home run king last year, was still home in Puerto Rico.

"Just say we're not very close at all, either in salary or distance and our most recent attempt to sign him failed badly," Stoneham said.

Cepeda is possibly asking for $55,000 or double his 1961 salary. The Giants are reportedly offering only a 33½ per cent boost.

Others absent here were pitcher Jack Sanford, holding out at home in Prospectville, Pa., and relief hurler Stu Miller, who is expected Thursday.

It was chilly here again yesterday and the squad shivered through much of its fourth practice session, the longest yet.

Besides Mays' brief stint at third, big Don Larsen's fast ball aroused some comment in batting practice.

"I've never seen Don throw so easily. And hard, too," exclaimed Harvey Kuenn who faced the former New York Yankee many times while playing with Detroit.

Catcher Ed Bailey was full of praise for Larsen too.

"Don's hummer is on you before you know it. He's throwing good," said Bailey, who caught Larsen.

Stoneham wasn't surprised though.

"We scouted him closely for many weeks last year and all the reports agreed that he was sound of arm and on the way back," said the Giants' official.

Terra Linda Wins Divisional Title

Terra Linda Merchants wrapped up the title in the green division of the San Rafael Recreation Departments Class "C" basketball league with a 24-19 win over Tensidyn Athletic Club last night.

The Merchants chalked up a seven win, one loss league record to win their divisional title. Scoring honors last night went to Lou Montini of Tensidyn with 8 points.

In green division play, Ralph's Luncheon-Ette and Dumont remained in contention for first place honors. Ralph's beat the Dukes 42-22 as Ed Larrieu scored 17 points. And Dumont outlasted the Probation Department 51-41 with Jim Fisher tallying 20 points. Ralph's has completed regular play with a six-two record. Dumont stands five-two with a game yet to play.

Review Of Dark's 1961 Mistakes; Handling Hurlers His Big Problem

There are two ways to size up Manager Alvin Dark of the Giants, as spring training is under way.

The first way is to judge him on last season's behaviour. Did he do the right things oftener than the wrong things?

Dark's biggest mistake, in my opinion, was trying to squeeze Willie McCovey into the lineup at first base. To do that he had to weaken two spots—first base and leftfield. With McCovey at first the club was weak defensively and with Orlando Cepeda in leftfield, that pasture suffered. So Alvin missed a mile on both counts.

McCovey didn't hit, he couldn't field as good as Cepeda who couldn't play the outfield any better than one of the old bloomer gals.

If you ask me I'll say that Cepeda made up Dark's mind about quitting the outfield.

THE SECOND mistake as Giant manager in 1961 may be excused as a pardonable offense. But Dark did "panic" badly on handling his pitchers. And whether it was Dark personally or his pitching advisors, I dunno. What I do know is that Dark yanked good pitchers too early and allowed others to stick in the game until it was hopelessly lost. Even Tom Drumm, the blind man, was a better judge of when to yank pitchers than Dark was at times last season.

Sam Jones will back me up on this point. So will Jack Sanford and Billy O'Dell. They were given the boot early and often and sometimes undeservedly.

Another pitching mistake charged to Manager Dark was that he used too many starting pitchers. He'd start off with his best and at the first sign of trouble, he'd make a replacement with his next best starting pitcher, in order to try and overcome his first mistake. In both of these incidents, Dark misused and by doing so his rotating pitchers were thrown out of kilter.

I NEEDN'T produce my scorebook to prove my point. Take the very first game of the season at Candlestick Park as a horrible example. With his best relief pitcher in the game — Stu Miller—he jerked Stu and sent in Mike McCormick who pitched one high inside curve to a lefthanded batter named Virdon who planted the spheroid out of the park to win the game.

No one can begin to estimate the number of times Alvin "gave up" on Jimmy Davenport, third sacker. Particularly in the first half of the season, Jimmy was in and out of the lineup like Finnigan, his replacement being Harvey Kuenn. It took a long time for Alvin to discover that a weak hitting Davenport was better than a weaker defensive and weak hitting Kuenn of 1961.

Because the Giants were paying Kuenn a big chunk in salary he had to be used, so Alvin went along by shifting Cepeda back to first base, sending Kuenn to the outfield and benching McCovey. That didn't work either because Kuenn was having his poorest year. If Harvey can come back this year, Dark's faith and judgment in his ability can be forgiven.

MY OWN personal observation is that Manager Dark should compose his outfield with Mays in center; Felipe Alou in leftfield and Matty Alou in rightfield. And when he needs help he might call on Kuenn and (Lord forbid) Willie McCovey.

Dark now has a year of managing under his belt. He will no doubt profit by his 1961 mistakes. But all he has to do in spring training is to find out if his three young pitchers are ready; if his two young catchers can "cut it" and to find a second baseman. If he doesn't know that Chuck Hiller strictly is an experiment, he'll find out in the clutch when it is too late.

It was the stubbornness of owner Horace Stoneman on insisting that Andre Rodgers play shortstop. It cost the Giants a pennant and Bill Rigney his job as manager. I hope Dark doesn't endanger his job this year by foolishness along the same lines. His number is up if he does.

CONGRATULATIONS, SON!

Mrs. Betty Frost, Tiburon, made the formal presentation of National AAU and National Junior Olympic awards to son Ken during an intermission in the Marin Pirates-Tamapais Swim Club dual meet at Drake High pool recently. Only Marinite ever to receive either award, Ken earned them last year by turning in the best time in the nation for 15-16 year old boys' 100 meter breaststroke, the 110 yard long course breaststroke and for the Junior Olympic 200-meter breaststroke event. His 100-meter mark stood for part of the season as the Senior AAU record. Ken swims for Beth Kaufman's Marin Pirates, and on the Redwood High squad.

Kegling In Marin—

Sheri Gibson, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dave Gibson of Novato, has been awarded a sixth place trophy for her 567 scratch score in a national Christmas Tournament for Juniors last December.

Last week at Nave Lanes her father followed Sheri's example and bagged a high 623-206-228 group. At the same lanes co-owner Bill Nave sacked a county high of 266 in the singles event of the Marin County Bowling Assn. tourney, the results of which are to be announced.

But two other gals also stole the show last week. At Greenbrae lanes in the Mixed Mates League, Kay Beal ripped off a 277 single to set the Marin Woman's Bowling Assn. record. Her series was 561.

At Nave, Jackie Newsome, rolled a brilliant 608-220-200, one of the highest scratch series in the lanes' women's leagues.

The FISHIN' FOOL

By RALPH STEVENS
IJ Fish and Game Writer

Ideal Way To Catch Salmon Is From A Skiff, Using Light Tackle

A salmon is a salmon is a salmon! If it happens to be an inch or two under the normal length of 22 inches, it is still eatable and, with the proper tackle, and under the proper circumstances, is a game fish in every sense of the word.

So opines Dick Dennis. The proper circumstances was trolling for salmon out of Capitola in a skiff with light tackle. Dick was equipped with light tackle; fished about four miles out from the Capitola pier and used anchovies for bait, and between his pal and himself accounted for three fish, the largest was only 23 inches and other two were under 22 inches.

I gathered from Dennis' telephone report that each of the salmon put up a swell battle for survival. Both anglers were well satisfied with the results and will make several return trips to that area.

I don't mean to disparage the many who do their salmon trolling from a party boat, but, as I have claimed numerous times the ideal method of catching a salmon is from a skiff with light tackle. Where you can switch off the outboard motor and play your catch to the point where he comes to the side of the skiff belly up and you can insert two fingers in the side of his mouth and heave him over the side.

THIS SORT of fishing can't be done when you are surrounded by other avid anglers who have no wish to reel in and await the finish of your battle. By the same token, it isn't fair for one person to use really light tackle on a party boat. Too many tangled lines result from the salmon's maneuvering, and the skipper can't very well stop the boat and allow you to maneuver the fish close enough to net. He would have no customers the next trip out if he did.

MOST CERTAINLY I am not advocating you get in a skiff and troll several miles out in the ocean. That would be foolish because of the ever present threat of a change in weather—a high wind or a sudden storm. But I do suggest that some of you try for salmon in a skiff out of such places as Capitola by the Sea, (where skiffs may be rented and the water is normally calm) Chuck's Fishing Cove (Shelter Cove at Pedro Point—a short drive from S.F.) or Princeton by the Sea, near Half Moon Bay.

SALMON TROLLING for the past few days has been only so-so. Average catch reported by the party boats has been perhaps not better than a fish-plus per rod. Saturday the best job I heard about was done by Captain Henry Carlson and his boat the Jennie C. Twenty-two salmon to 14 pounds were unloaded at Tony Caruso's Sausalito place. This report by Sid McMullin of Caruso's, Sid also told me all boats that went out on Sunday came back in early account of sloppy seas outside the Gate.

BASS FISHING has been rather slow with such fish as have been taken running a bit small. Joe Nerviani of Joe's Launched did report one rather good job done by a pair of S.F. fishermen. Three rods and five bass that ran from 11 to 17 pounds; otherwise the score of 45 bass taken on Thursday and Saturday came in at a ratio of one or two to the boat.

Asked about flounders, Joe said they were plentiful and of nice size. Alice Quan of China Camp fame copped that bet. Lots of flounders but few bass and the few rather small.

REPORT FROM the Golden Hinde at Inverness was to the effect that no bass and a very, very few steelhead had been taken in either Papermill Creek or the bay. The consensus seems to be that this season has seen fewer steelies caught than for several years past.

Flounder fishing appears to be as good or even better at present than it has been in the upper San Pablo Bay, and the few bank fishermen who catfished when weather permitted the past week in the Delta region seem to have no gripe. With a fond hope that in my next column I can pass along better news, I bid you a fond farewell, and sign off with the usual—goodbye, good luck and go get 'em!

MARINWOOD NAMES NEW FIRE CHIEF

Marinwood's Community Services District board last night named John G. Unsworth, fire chief at Agnews State Hospital, as the new fire chief for Marinwood.

Unsworth, 37, will take charge of the fire department March 15 at a monthly salary of $575. Marinwood has been without a fire chief since Jan. 19 when Donald G. Ray quit in a controversy over his administration of the department.

Adequate fire protection became an issue after Ray's resignation and was tied to opposition to a $356,000 bond proposal for a new fire house and recreation center which Marinwood voters approved last week.

Robert C. Morris, fire commission chairman, told the district board Unsworth was the "number one recommendation" of a three-man committee that interviewed seven applicants Friday. The seven were selected from a total of 23 applicants. Examiners were Harvey Gruber, fire training officer for Fred Kaiser of the Pacific Fire Underwriters Rating Bureau, and Chief Carl O. Heynen Jr. of the Alto Fire Department.

Unsworth has been chief at Agnews a year and previously was a member of the Santa Ana Fire Department 13 years. He and his wife, Cora, have three children, John, 17, Rita, 14, and Robert, 12.

On recommendation of the fire commission, the CSD board also named James McElhattan, 398 Pinewood Drive, as a new commissioner. McElhattan, an engineer for the Dow Chemical Corp., building products division, in San Francisco, replaces Ray on the fire commission.

A mutual aid fire agreement with Hamilton Air Force Base was approved after having been reviewed by the county council.

A canvass of votes in last week's bond issues election showed the firehouse and park passed with 953 "yes" votes, 283 "no" votes. An $82,000 bond issue for a swimming pool failed by 18 votes to obtain the necessary two-thirds majority, with 802 "yes" to 428 "no." Sixteen absentee ballots are included in the total.

Mrs. Dewey Forry, parks and recreation commission chairman, announced the commission will meet Thursday at 8 p.m. in the Mary E. Silveira School instead of its regular March 8 meeting.

'Stolen' Car Turns Up—Wrecked

A sports car owner turned in a "stolen auto" report to San Rafael police and the California Highway Patrol last night. Some hours later, he told patrol officers he had himself wrecked the vehicle just south of San Rafael city limits.

Robert William Agnew Jr. of Vallejo, employed as a mechanic by a San Rafael automobile dealer, first said he had parked in front of a Fourth Street bar about 5:15 p.m. yesterday and his vehicle was missing when he emerged.

Officers noted that Agnew had a cut forehead and bruised jaw and cheek. He said these resulted from a shop accident.

The car was located in a vacant lot at Woodland Avenue and Auburn Street, severely damaged.

Finally Agnew told the patrol the car had never been stolen but that he had been reluctant to say he had caused the mishap himself because it was his second accident within a week.

'Yule' Concert Slated Friday By Non-Marchers

The "Christmas concert" of the Las Gallinas Valley Sanitary District Non-Marching Band will be held in the multipurpose room of the Bernard Hoffman School in Terra Linda on Friday at 8 p.m.

A spokesman for the group said the concert would include numbers from "Guys and Dolls," "The Unsinkable Molly Brown" and several songs including "Tiger Rag," "Third Street Rhumba" and "Purple Carnival."

The scheduling of a "Christmas concert" in March would be understandable to anyone familiar with the casual attitude of the organization, formed in 1958 by former musicians (meaning some of them played trumpet in high school), the spokesman said.

Kentfield Board Stomps Out Of College Meeting

No Agreement Is Reached On Stadium Way Proposal

By RALPH CHATOIAN

Members of the Kentfield School District board stormed out of a joint meeting with College of Marin trustees last night after attempts to purchase part of Stadium Way from the college failed.

The walkout came after an hour and a half of discussion over the proposed purchase of the street, which Kentfield trustee president Mrs. Watson Conner said was "getting us nowhere."

Stadium Way, off College Avenue, runs through A. E. Kent School property. The Kentfield board plans to add a wing to Kent School for a library, a science room, and a primary classroom. The district seeks to buy a portion of Stadium Way to connect the new wing with the existing school.

The portion is just past Stadium Way's intersection with College Avenue and extends about 500 feet to the end of the Kent School property.

College trustee president Kent O. Seymour told the Kentfield board: "We have to get a flow of college student traffic on Stadium Way. That is our problem."

Seymour suggested a trade of Stadium Way for a 400-square-foot area next to its entrance for a future connection to an overpass across College Avenue.

Kentfield board members protested their district plans to use that area for an entrance structure for the Kent School.

Kentfield Supt. Howard C. Harmon said the Kentfield district has a right-of-way for Stadium Way from the college district.

Kentfield trustee Henry G. Hayes said the request for the street was for the safety of the school children.

Kentfield trustee John R. B. Ellis said the matter was of utmost urgency. "You are holding up our master plan for Kent School. You are preventing us from building our science building and other classroom," he urged.

William Corlett architect for the Kentfield district, suggested the college plan for a crossing of College Avenue farther from Kent School.

"We thought the college board would be favorable, considering your architect's statement that Stadium Way is not needed in the college master plan," said Mrs. Conner. "We have presented our case."

"If it is all right with you, we will excuse ourselves."

As Mrs. Conner was putting on her coat and a score of members of the Kent School Parent-Teachers Assn. started rising, Hayes accused the college board of taking advantage of Kentfield urgency.

"We find we are horsetrading and that is not what we want," he said.

As the audience was filing from the room, college trustee George G. Washburn moved that a letter be sent to the Kentfield district telling them the college board was still open for negotiations. The motion passed unanimously.

After the special meeting was adjourned, the college trustees met their architects and David Van Pelt, of the county planning staff. The county master plan for Kentfield, which would affect the College of Marin area, was discussed.

The Kentfield board adjourned to its regular meeting at Kent School and voted to continue plans for the new wing.

Algeria Peace Pact Approval Near; 'Plastic Bombers' Nabbed In Paris

COMBINED AP & UPI

The Algerian rebel parliament, meeting at Tripoli, in Libya, has accepted a peace agreement with France to end the seven and one-half-year Algerian war, well informed sources said today.

The sources said the National Council for Algerian Revolution, the rebel parliament, met here today to draft an announcement of its acceptance of the accord worked out by French and rebel representatives in secret negotiations in Switzerland.

But the sources said the announcement would not be made public until after the Algerian leaders leave Tripoli.

The rebel council has been discussing the peace agreement for the past five days.

The French government already has approved the agreement, which calls for a ceasefire, a transitional period during which a self-determination referendum will be held in Algeria, and guarantees for the European minority in Algeria, French use of the naval base at Mers-el-Kebir outside Oran, and French interests in the Sahara oil fields.

In preparation for announcement of the agreement and the anticipated violent reaction from die-hard European opponents of Algerian independence, French Premier Michel Debre ordered French military commanders in Algeria to deploy reserve forces through the major cities swept by waves of terrorist killings.

In Algiers French paratroopers supported by armored cars and half-track vehicles patrolled the downtown streets.

At least 38 persons were killed and 67 wounded in indiscriminate attacks throughout Algeria yesterday, with 22 killed and 60 wounded in Algiers alone. The onslaught brought the casualty toll since the first of the year to 1,152 killed and 1,929 wounded.

Despite the massive show of strength, observers expressed doubt that the French would be able to curb the bloody bid by the outlawed secret army organization (OAS) to wreck the long-awaited French-Rebel agreement on a ceasefire in the Algerian war.

In Paris police announced the capture of two key leaders of the "plastic gang" which has been setting off bombs here to protest President Charles de Gaulle's plan to give Algeria its independence.

Jean M. Vincent and Edouard Tissandier, described as "the ringleader of the bombers and his chief aide," were arrested Sunday in western Paris on the basis of information received from six bombers captured earlier. Vincent and Tissandier are both 22 and both were born in Algiers.

Police said the two men have admitted:

Masterminding raids on the U.S. air bases at Toul-Rosiere and Evreux in which their men stole hand grenades, uniforms and other military equipment, and about 450 pounds of plastic explosive for bomb-making.

Organizing about 55 plastic bombings in Paris, among them 17 which occurred on the night of Jan. 17-18 alone, and the Feb. 7 attack on the home of culture minister Andre Malraux in which a 4-year-old girl was blinded.

Truck Smashes Into Bus —Three Die, 10 Injured

NEW BRAUNFELS, Tex. (UPI)—A big truck pulling a trailer smashed into the side of a Greyhound bus before dawn today. The collision threw the bus on its side, killed three bus passengers and injured 10 other persons.

All of the injured except the truck driver were passengers on the bus, bound from Dallas to San Antonio. The bus was going north toward Dallas. There were 13 passengers and a driver on the bus. Most of the passengers were asleep.

One of the victims was Daniel Arthur Morse, 69, of Hollis, N.Y. The two other victims—a man and a woman—were not identified immediately.

The truck, driven by Charles Brandon, 33, of Garland, Tex., crossed a 40-foot strip of grass between the north and south lanes of U.S. Highway 81. It hit the bus in the left side, at the front wheel about 6:20 a.m. (EST)

"I was about three or four seats behind the driver when we were hit," Joseph Davis, 20, of San Antonio said. "The bus rolled over on its right side and I was thrown across the bus."

"I landed on the bodies of a man and a woman. They were between the seat and the luggage rack. I felt their pulse and couldn't find any. Then I knocked out a back window and helped some of the people out of the bus."

Five of the injured, all reported in "fair" condition, were treated in the New Braunfels Hospital.

Carmen Garnello of East Chicago, Ind., said, "I was asleep when it happened. The first thing I knew I was on the floor. I crawled out of a broken window."

It was raining and misting and the weather may have had something to do with the wreck.

Davis said the truck driver told him that he pulled over to let an automobile pass him. He said he hit a slick spot in the pavement and lost control of the truck.

Looters Took Purse From Crash Victim

AUBURN (AP)—Looters at the scene of a Greyhound bus crash Sunday delayed the identification of the only person killed in the accident for nine hours.

Capt. R. B. Langer of the California Highway Patrol reported that looters stole the purse of Mrs. Laverne Smith of San Leandro, who was crushed beneath the bus as it rolled down a bank. She was not identified until late Sunday night.

Langer said several other purses were grabbed in the early confusion at the scene in a snowstorm on U.S. 40 east of Auburn.

The driver of one automobile stopped and seized a purse but gave it up when a State Division of Highways employee gave chase. The looter escaped.

MRS. HARVEY E. HENDERSON, wife of the commander of the 78th Fighter Wing at Hamilton Air Force Base, and daughter, Betsy, display her collection of Hummel figurines and fine glass and china. The Hendersons have been at Hamilton for 18 months. (Independent-Journal photo)

Commander's Wife An Avid Collector

By DOROTHY NEWELL

A coed at Southwest Texas State College in San Marcos and a flying instructor at nearby Randolph Air Force Base had a mutual acquaintance who knew they both loved to dance. He introduced Miss Jean Bouchier to the flying instructor. In 1942 they were married, and now living at Hamilton Air Force Base, are the couple, Col. and Mrs. Harvey E. Henderson.

Commander of the 78th Fighter Wing and Hamilton Air Force Base since July, 1960, Col. and Mrs. Henderson have had their share of happiness and sadness during the years they have been married.

During World War II, while Mrs. Henderson resided in Texas, Colonel Henderson was commander of the 339th Fighter Squadron stationed in Europe. On Dec. 5, 1945, he was reported missing in action, and was taken prisoner.

However, Mrs. Henderson learned first of the news that he was a prisoner from people who had heard it through ham operators. Ham operators, who monitored calls, had somehow picked up the names of men who had been taken prisoners by the Germans. Those hearing the list of prisoners names wrote to Mrs. Henderson who corresponded with these people until after the war. She received official word several times however, while he was a prisoner. But Colonel Henderson was back in the United States for several months before she received a huge packet of letters that he had written her while in German prisoner of War Camp Stalag Luft 1.

Prior to coming to Hamilton, the Hendersons spent two years in Alaska, three years in Germany and four years in Virginia while Colonel Henderson was stationed in Washington, D. C. Mrs. Henderson said during the war years they were at so many bases that she termed them "suitcase" moves.

The Hendersons have lived at Hamilton for 18 months, but to see their lovely home, one would feel that it had taken a number of years to acquire the blending of house and furniture. But only one that has traveled could acquire the variety of beautiful possessions.

In the living room the Hendersons have a piano from Colorado, one chest from South Carolina, another from Germany, two marble top tables from Alabama, and a nest of oakwood tables Colonel Henderson brought as a gift for his wife from Hong Kong. All the pieces of furniture blend beautifully in the Spanish style home.

"I just acquire things that appeal to me," Mrs. Henderson said. Among her acquisitions are Hummel figurines, demitasse spoons, crystal and china, a clock from Germany, a lamp from Copenhagen, and many other works of art from Europe.

In the arched windows of the dining room, former tenants left glass shelves, which Mrs. Henderson put to use beautifully. Here she displays the wine goblets she bought while in Germany, which are her favorites, and the Hummel figurines and china.

Mrs. Henderson went out to make a pot of coffee and advised that there was a story on the clock in the entry hall. While in Germany, she went to West Berlin which she said was one of the places to go while stationed in Germany.

On the street which faces the East Berlin wall are a multitude of shops handling merchandise that East Berliners (during the time the Hendersons were there) brought over to sell. Mrs. Henderson and a friend went in to a shop and saw the antique clock. Because the owner of the shop had a difficult accent they learned through sign language that the clock was in working order. Then came the question of price. He quoted eight or eighteen marks — and the two women got their heads together, and whichever price it was, they considered it a bargain.

But in the meantime, the owner of the shop thought they were dickering over the price and brought down the price. Mrs. Henderson calls it, "her comedy of errors," as the beautifully clock only cost her $1.60 American money and until three months ago has kept perfect time, and now, probably only needs to be cleaned.

While stationed at Sembach Air Base in Kaiserslautern, Germany, their youngest child, Betsy, was born. Now six years old, she is a first grade student at Meadowpark school at Hamilton.

The Hendersons also have two sons, Robert, a sophomore at San Rafael High School and Harvey E. Jr., a freshman at Menlo College.

Robert participates in all athletic activities at the high school. He is now turning out for basketball and he doesn't arrive home from school until 7 p.m. at night.

"I hope our daughter will be interested in the piano," Mrs. Henderson said. "Both the boys were exposed to the piano, but they were more interested in the Little League. I enjoy playing the piano, but for my own enjoyment only," she continued.

Because their schedule may be changed at any time, they can not make plans too far in advance, but Mrs. Henderson said a group of women friends play bridge when their husbands are busy. She also enjoys golf and entertaining at home in small groups.

When her boys were small, she knitted for them, but now her knitting is mostly for friends that have new babies, and knitting is another hobby for active and energetic Mrs. Henderson.

"I love to travel but hate to leave an area," Mrs. Henderson said. "But we make so many wonderful friends." Arriving recently at Hamilton were friends the Hendersons made while in Germany. The women had a day of shopping in San Francisco and Mrs. Henderson said it was just wonderful to see her friend exclaim over the merchandise in the stores, after being away from the United States.

The Henderson home has four bedrooms, and two baths upstairs, a living room, dining room, entry hall, large kitchen and enclosed patio on the main floor, and a full basement with maid's room. One would never realize when seeing the Henderson home that Mrs. Henderson has no domestic help. "I love this house and the big kitchen," she said.

Of course, conversing with Mrs. Henderson the subject of Texas automatically is brought out. However, she said, "I'm the black sheep of the family, the only member to leave Texas." When we go on a vacation to Texas we have to travel the entire state as we have relatives in all parts of the state. And our families can't understand why we complain of the heat when we go there."

Colonel Henderson was born in Edinburg, Tex. and Mrs. Henderson was born in Taylor, Tex.

Mrs. Henderson is a member of the Meadow Park and San Rafael High School P-T-A, honorary vice president of the Officers' Wives Club, and also works in the Thrift Shop at Hamilton.

MARIN'S SOCIAL WHIRL

Academy Cadets' Parents Having Dinner Tomorrow

By FLORENCE DONNELLY

Parents of San Rafael Military Academy cadets are having a dinner tomorrow night at St. Francis Yacht Club in San Francisco. Among those attending will be Dr. and Mrs. Jorgen Uldall, Dr. Joan Qualm, Messrs. and Mesdames John Lesoine, Fred Dietrich (she is taking reservations), Jack Blaine, O. James Crabb, Elmer Lindsey, Prentiss Goldstone, Melville Baruh, John Brocato, Berthold Broemmel, Dudley Miller, Sidney Cohn and Mrs. Leona Norman. Representing the academy will be Dr. Sumner Walter, headmaster, Lawrence Robertson, dean of instruction, Col. Lee Alfred, professor of military science, and their wives.

The cadets who had a titillation Saturday are planning several social events for spring. They had a talent show last week. Their recent Valentine hop was a big success. One of the reasons was the orchestra, the Bellhops, in which David Blaine, George Jennings, Robert Lesoine and Bruce McCaulley, academy cadets, played.

A number of Marin women are modeling in the fashion show which will feature the luncheon of the San Rafael Military Academy Mothers Club March 28 at the Olympic Club at Lakeside. Among those parading spring fashions will be Mesdames John Lesoine, Theodore Brown, Sidney Cohn, Charles Neal and Carl Clark.

Florence Lesoine is very busy these days as she is co-chairman for ticket sales in Marin for the Black and White Ball April 27. GUY LAROCHE

Bright and young as spring itself, Parisian designer Guy Laroche's suit for '62 is cut short and sleek, done in violet wool tweed. The fitted jacket has a collarless neckline that reveals the deep cowl collar of the navy silk blouse beneath. A decorative "watch chain" drops from one pocket to another for imaginative trim.

Marc Bohan of Christian Dior drops the belt to the hip, conceals the waistline behind bunches of fabric in the green wool dress finished with a round neckline and self tie.

PIERRE CARDIN

Buckles are the big news at Pierre Cardin for spring 1962. Hardly a dress or skirt is shown without an important buckle, usually outsize and covered with matching fabric. This violet wool suit, with casual, unbut-

TODAY'S FASHIONS

Spring Styles Are Moulded In Return To Femininity

By CAROL COLBY

Store will soon be bursting with new spring styles and I'm happy to report that all of them show a complete return to femininity! Women, thank goodness, are going to look like women again. Fashions are softly moulded to reveal the true feminine lines. Waistlines have been raised, but not extremely so, and, at any rate, all waistlines are nipped in with tucks or cinched with belts to show off the true figure. The big news in skirts is that many of them are flared and they carry over the knee-high hemline introduced last season. To further emphasize femininity, organdies, laces and silks will be featured. We've sketched a particularly pretty ensemble that combines a ruffled white organdy and lace top with a slightly flared silk skirt. Cottons and linens are spring favorites, of course. Discover them in bright floral patterns, luscious figure-slimming stripes and sunny solid colors.

Look for fancier collar and sleeve treatment, lower necklines, and, in evening frocks, soft, clinging gowns that are frankly sensuous in design. The oversize jewelry that enjoyed a brief popularity is on its way out. Earrings will swing provocatively, but they'll definitely be smaller and more delicate in design. Ditto for bracelets, bangles and beads. Word of warning: Since the accent will be on revealing the figure, better make sure yours is in trim shape. If it isn't—get busy with the diet and exercise!

WHAT'S YOUR FASHION PROBLEM?

MISS DEW,
LOS ANGELES, CALIF.

"I'm a teenager who is just beginning to learn about fashion. Is there any quick way to check quality in clothes?"

ANSWER: One way, of course, is to depend of the good name of the store. Second quick check: Closely examine the inside of the garment. Skimp, narrow seams, rough finishing, are sure signs of shoddy manufacture. The quality of the buttons, zippers and ornaments also helps you tell the difference between a fashion find and a no-bargain-at-any-price frock.

Correct Spray Fixes The Coif

CHICAGO (UPI) — Hold that can of hair spray at least seven inches away from the head, the experts advise.

In this way, you spray on a fine, atomized mist that keeps the hair soft and lustrous without stiffness and avoids the formation of beads and droplets of sprays on the hair.

Researchers for one of the aerosol packaging companies also advise brushing the hair, however lightly, into place after each application of spray. This precaution serves to keep the spray from forming a dulling film.

For bleached or tinted hair, they advise using a gentle-type waving lotion — one that will soften as it dries. Also recommended for tinted hair is a special conditioning rinse designed to counteract the tendency of color-treated hair to be porous, dry and brittle.

Finally, there really is a difference between hair sprays for ordinary and hard-to-hold hair, say the experts. The sprays for hard-to-hold hair contain anti-static ingredients which tend to keep fine, "fly-away" hair in place.

Social Factors Seen In Making Of An Alcoholic

PHILADELPHIA (UPI) — A University of Pennsylvania sociologist says the mood of a drinker and his social environment determine drunkenness—not merely the percentage of alcohol in the blood.

Dr. Albert B. Hobbs, who has studied the problem of alcoholism, has become convinced that social factors are just as important as physical factors in the making of an alcoholic.

He also disdains use of the term "intoxication" preferring the more descriptive "drunk." He calls intoxication a "nice Nelly pseudo-scientific designation" which says the blood contains a certain amount of alcohol. Drunk describes the mood in addition to the alcohol, he said.

According to Hobbs, a person switches from a sensible drinker to an alcoholic type when the balance between his own desires and the controls of society becomes upset.

"At first," Dr. Hobbs said, "the man out of guilt gulps and sneaks his drinks and makes excuses for drinking if he is caught. Later he becomes a closet drinker, drinking alone, hiding his bottle and losing all sense of guilt."

This is the stage at which he is fast headed toward alcoholism, the sociologist said.

Why does the drinker begin the pattern of alcoholism?

Dr. Hobbs explains that alcoholics have one thing in common. They see themselves as being more important than society and its codes of behavior. This is the mood that upsets the balance.

He said the success of Alcoholics Anonymous is due to its efforts at gradually restoring the delicate balance between selfish aims and social controls.

In Freezing Meat Include The Gravy

URBANA, Ill. (UPI) — When freezing cooked meat, make sure to combine it with a sauce or gravy.

The University of Illinois home economics department recommends this procedure because the sauce or gravy assures a more airtight package and has been shown to protect the meat during freezer storage.

Package the cooked meat carefully, home economists advise, leaving space at the top of the container for expansion during freezing. Transfer the package to the freezer immediately and store it as zero degrees or below.

Time To Get Busy Preparing For Life After Atomic Attack

Do you want your children to be protected from radiation fallout? I want mine to be. But I still get letters from folks who say they'd rather have their little ones die than live in a postwar world.

We are frightened. One expert tells us what to do, and a dozen others say he is wrong. Civilian defense plans have been changed bewilderingly. Very few of us are doing anything constructive. We just sit and simmer. If an enemy had tried to demoralize us, he could hardly have done a better job.

Let's get busy. A few neurotic folks may choose death. Let them chicken out if they must. But the rest of us will want to stay strong. We'll try to protect ourselves and our children. We'll try to survive. We may need home protection from fallout. We have government booklets telling us what to do. Since each home is different, each family will have to make its own preparations. Are you working on yours?

We need thousands of school-community fallout shelters in vulnerable areas. The Administration has suggested a relatively small appropriation as a starter. Experts say that the proposal is less than one-twentieth of the total required. Have you told your congressman and senators that you want a realistic shelter construction program to protect your children? I've told mine.

We need stronger civilian defense organizations in our neighborhoods. Most of us have been content to "let George do it." That should stop. Will you volunteer your services to your civilian defense group? Please do, today.

READERS' FORUM

(Q) "Dr. Barbour, would you really choose to live in the sick, maimed world which would follow a nuclear war?"

MRS. N. P.

(A) I'd choose it over death. Mankind has been on earth for hundreds of thousands of years. Our early ancestors survived many cataclysms. They lived with danger every moment of their lives. Struggling to survive is a normal occupation for human beings.

Insists He Doesn't Snore? Tape Is Proof

If your husband insists he doesn't snore, let him prove it. Mrs. Don Fitch of New Haven, Conn., insisted her husband was a heavy snorer. He disagreed.

One day he decided to put an end to the controversy by showing his wife that she exaggerated his nocturnal rumblings. He put a tape recorder at his bedside, and fell off in a sound sleep.

The playback was a revelation to Fitch, who now has 1½ hours of snoring time recorded. The experiment proved to be an entertaining one, also. The Fitches use the tape recording to amuse their friends.

"It never fails to get a party off to a good start," says Fitch.

NDGW Plan Golden Anniversary

Elaborate plans are being made by Sea Point Parlor No. 196, Native Daughters of the Golden West of Sausalito, to celebrate its golden anniversary on March 21 at the Portuguese Hall, 325 Caledonia Street.

The parlor is the oldest Native Daughters group in Marin County. It was founded on March 21, 1912, at Eagles Hall, now the site occupied by medical and other offices.

Mrs. Sadie M. Oliver of Vacaville, organizer and chairman of the committee in charge, has been working for many months to make this an outstanding event in the parlor's history. She was the first president of the chapter.

This will also be the occasion of the official visit of the grand president Alice D. Shea of Presidio Parlor No. 148 of San Francisco, with many of the present and past grand officers.

Two charter members, Mesdames Manuel Garcia of Sausalito and Laura E. Kibble of San Francisco, are still active members of the parlor. They and Mrs. Oliver will receive their 50-year emblem pins during the evening.

Invitations will be sent to the Native Sons of the Golden West and public officials of Sausalito. All members are looking forward to greeting many other members and friends of the organization.

Radioactive Fallout Removal From Milk Up To 90 Per Cent

A cooperative venture on the part of the U. S. Public Health Service, the U. S. Department of Agriculture and the Atomic Energy Commission, has resulted in an ion exchange process by which removal of up to 90 per cent of radioactive strontium from milk is possible.

More research is underway on this process, and government officials report that if radioactive levels should reach the point where action is necessary, appropriate steps would be taken and the public would be kept fully informed. However, it was stated that under present conditions, such a process as the ion exchange is not necessary, as conclusions based on weather bureau and atomic energy commission estimates and other factors are that strontium 89 and strontium 90 levels over the next year will be well below the daily intake, averaged over a year's time, recommended as safe by the federal radiation council.

The U. S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare said "it should be remembered that milk is an essential source of calcium for the bones and teeth . . . and any widespread disruption of the production and distribution of this nutritionally essential commodity is likely to create individual and public health hazards far more widespread and serious than will be created by the small amounts of radioactive exposure at the levels anticipated in the year ahead."

"Additionally," the agency said, "attempts by individuals to reduce milk consumption of their children, without competent medical supervision, could not only result in nutritional imbalance, but might actually increase exposure, since milk has a lower strontium-to-calcium ratio than many other foods."

Periodic Vision Tests Help Keep Eyes Right

NEW YORK (UPI) — Every child should have a professional eye examination as soon as he is ready for school, the Better Vision Institute says.

But the number of youngsters who actually are taken to doctors for careful eye tests is insignificant, said August A. Nelson, executive director of the 30-year-old public education organization.

"Some schools have screening checks for children," he said in an interview. "But they are superficial. They read a chart, but all this tells you is whether a child can see at a distance. Nothing is disclosed about coordination or of all sorts of possible difficulties.

"Parents think the matter is being taken care of because of these checks and do not do anything about it, when actually every person between 6 and 20 years of age should have an examination every year."

Nelson's job is to oversee an educational program financed with $750,000 in annual dues paid by eye specialists, optometrists, opticians and members of the optical industry.

He said that persons 20 to 45 should have eye examinations every two years. When a person reaches 45, he should return to annual eye tests, he said.

The institute is most concerned with children at present. Experts in the vision field feel that if parents of young children are convinced that eye examinations are necessary, the idea of having regular tests eventually will be accepted by the entire population.

Said Nelson, "There is a great deal of evidence, some of it the result of formal research, the rest gained through experience over many years, that even in the United States, presumably the most advanced country in the world, the great bulk of the people are taking for granted even minimum care of eyesight."

"Either they just don't know they can do something, they encounter psychological barriers, or they simply take it for granted."

Nelson said there are three basic reasons no one can determine for himself how well he sees. They are:

—There is no standard of reference. An individual has no objective way to compare how he sees with the vision of others.

—Except in extreme cases, vision defects do not produce pain. A person knows when he has a toothache but he may not realize that headaches or tension are being caused by eye difficulties.

—Changes in vision usually occur so gradually and over such a long period of time that the individual is unable to detect them.

In the case of children, they are still learning to use their eyes when they are ready for school, Nelson said. There is no way for them to know if anything is wrong, and only a medical expert can make this determination.

"Most parents probably will admit that vision deficiency can interfere with a child's ability to read and learn, and to participate in play and games," he said. "Too many of them, though, ignore their children's eyesight until something serious happens. It's a problem they don't like to face."

Look For These Features In Buying, Desk, Table Lamps

CHICAGO (UPI) — Look for these features in buying desk or table lamps.

For properly-directed reading light the lower rim of the shade should rest at eye level — about 40 inches from the floor for adults, lower for children.

If you prefer an opaque shade, select one with a white or near-white inner surface. The white helps diffuse light. Translucent shades should be sufficiently dense to transmit light without a bright spot showing through at the bulb.

Choose a shade 16 inches or more in diameter to spread enough light to blanket a sizeable reading surface. The shade also should be deep enough to prevent the bulb being seen by an individual standing or moving around the room, or the shade should be fitted with a shielding device.

For top-quality reading light, K. Virginia Seidel, University of Illinois extension home furnishings specialist, advised desk and table lamps with a diffusing element. It may be a bowl that surrounds the bulb or a flat disk, either of which refine and soften light as well as create a larger surface of more nearly even light.

"The flat, disk-type diffusing element should be located within the shade, an inch or more above the bottom of the rim.

Placement of the socket is important, too. Placed too high in the shade, it directs too little light downward and too much toward the ceiling. In general, it is desirable for about two-thirds of the light to be directed down and about one-third up toward the ceiling.

Choose the correct bulbs for lamps designed for specific uses. The Better Light, Better Sight bureau recommends these wattages as minimum for: table lamps—150 watts; wall lamps — 150 watts for single fixtures, 100 watts each if used in pairs; dressing table lamps—100 watts; floor lamps —150-300 watts, depending on size of the lamp.

Tinted or colored bulbs absorb some light, so use the next highest wattage, the bureau advised. Additional light also is suggested when sewing on a dark material which absorbs light.

Teens Hospital Ward Will Be 'The Most'

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—It's getting to a point in San Francisco where some teenagers may actually be looking forward to going to the hospital.

The Presbyterian Medical Center is building a hospital ward exclusively for teenagers. The idea of gathering sick but still high-spirited youth into an enclosed area may appear novel—or even a bit risky—to some. But officials at the center already have demonstrated that they're going about the scheme in a solid, practical manner.

For example, they have specifically ordered specially-built short corridors, to discourage "hot-rodding" down the hallways in wheel chairs.

The center feels that young patients are happier, easier to handle and actually get well faster when they are in a ward together, rather than in children's or adults' wards.

The new facility will be for boys and girls, in separate rooms, from 14 to 18-years-old. The rules will be liberal. The furniture will be durable.

For example, the patient can order any kind of meal he wants, as long as his doctor approves. That means hamburgers, hot dogs and soft drinks often will replace the standard hospital fare.

There will also be a central game room where the patients may visit. That area will feature game tables, books and magazines, radio and television, a phonograph and even a pay telephone.

The decor will resemble a suite of club rooms rather than the usual hospital ward atmosphere. Gold and white curtains and wallpaper will decorate the seven-room facility, each with seven beds and each with solid colonial-type furnishings.

The center says there will be only one hard-and-fast rule: NO smoking. If the teenagers insist on smoking, they will have to transfer to adult wards.

Pam Kard To Marry March 25

Planning a wedding March 25 at St. Anselm's Church in San Anselmo are Pamela Kard, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gus Kard of San Rafael, and Robert Eugene Marcucci.

The bride-elect is a San Rafael High School graduate and she attended San Francisco State College. She is employed as a dental assistant in San Rafael.

Robert is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Nello Marcucci of San Anselmo, and he is a Sir Francis Drake High School graduate. He is employed as a fireman by the San Rafael Fire Department.

Where The Money Goes

NEW YORK (UPI)—Americans spend nearly twice as much for recreation, alcoholic beverages and tobacco as they do for medical care, the Health Insurance Institute reports.

Of every 100 cents John and Jane Doe spend, more than 11 cents go for the combined costs of recreation, alcohol soaks up three cents and tobacco inhales 2.3 cents, the institute said. Medical care corners 5.9 cents.

Give The Mirror A Quality Test

CHICAGO (UPI)—To judge the quality of a mirror, look into it. Here's how:

Stand still in front of the mirror, then move slightly, keeping on eye on the reflection. If you detect any waviness or distortion, you're looking at an inexpensive mirror rather than a quality mirror.

There are several differences between the window glass and plate glass mirrors, according to Richard M. Clouse, a mirror manufacturer.

He said plate glass makes better mirrors because it is at least 1/4 inch thick and polished on both sides to remove all waviness and imperfections. The glass then is coated with silver, copper and a protective layer of paint.

Window glass mirrors, on the other hand, are simply drawn and fired without polishing.

A new type of window glass mirror, called premium glass, represents an improvement over window glass, Clouse said; the waves in the glass are 36 inches apart. It would be possible, therefore, to find a small premium glass mirror, no more than 36 inches square, with no distortion, but any larger mirror of this type would still present a distorted image.

Shell Asserts He Will Get Endorsement

SACRAMENTO (P)—A high stakes battle is going on behind the scenes in California's Republican ranks today.

It will reach a climax in Berkeley Thursday when the Candidates and Facts-Finding Committee of the California Republican Assembly decides its endorsement for governor.

Statewide polls show Richard Nixon far out in front for the Republican nomination in the June 5 primary. But his chief foe, Assemblyman Joseph C. Shell of Los Angeles, refuses to concede anything to the GOP's 1960 candidate for president.

Shell, 43, conducting his first statewide campaign, says:

1. His own spot-checks show he has picked up from 12 to 32 per cent of the Republican vote in the past 90 days in counties stretching from San Diego to Sacramento.

2. He has personally witnessed more than 400 Democrats switch registration to Republican so they can vote for him in the primary.

3. He expects to win the CRA endorsement over Nixon.

4. But if he doesn't, he intends to stay in the race.

California's major olive producing areas are in the southern San Joaquin and northern Sacramento Valleys.

Nixon Asks Competition In Defense Contracts

SAN MATEO (P)—Former Vice President Richard M. Nixon says defense contracts should be awarded on a competitive basis rather than to states with high unemployment rates.

"I do not want the Eisenhower policy changed. This policy provides that contracts must be awarded on a competitive basis, with due consideration given for quality workmanship," he said at a news conference last night after addressing the Peninsula Manufacturers Assn.

Nixon's remarks challenged Sen. Clair Engle (D-Calif.) who said earlier in Washington that Nixon was trying to "stir up a political issue" over Kennedy administration policies on awarding defense contracts.

Engle said Nixon had "distorted" President John F. Kennedy's statements on defense contracts in a speech Nixon made in Los Angeles.

Nixon, seeking the Republican gubernatorial nomination in California, said if unemployment becomes a factor in the awarding of contracts, then governors and senators would attempt to prove that their areas had the worst unemployment.

Nixon said Kennedy had stated last week that he was "inclined" to consider the unemployment theory as suggested by Labor Secretary Arthur Goldberg.

But he cautioned that the information on alleged subversive activities should be "used and revealed only by experts in the field" of anti-Communism.

In a question and answer session, Nixon denied he withdrew from the 1964 presidential race because he feared President Kennedy would defeat him.

Brown Backs Taking Files From Armory

SACRAMENTO (P)—Maj. Gen. Roderic L. Hill, state adjutant general, has reported to Gov. Edmund G. Brown that he moved confidential files from the San Diego National Guard Armory because there was no state agency responsible for their security.

After reading Hill's written report yesterday, Brown complimented him and said he used good judgment in taking the files, which contained information on alleged subversive activities.

The files were taken from the rent-free armory office of the San Diego Research Library, a private firm.

In his report, Hill said the files were compiled over the years by the California National Guard as part of its intelligence mission.

Hill said they had been under the supervision of the Counter-Intelligence Corps of the guard reserve, which was deactivated last Dec. 31.

The report continues: "On Feb. 9 I... was informed that Sen. Hugo Fisher of San Diego had received complaints that information from the files was being made available to unauthorized persons. "My investigation disclosed that no state official was immediately responsible for the security of the files. Because the National Guard no longer performs a counter-intelligence mission, I asked the Bureau of Criminal Identification and Investigation to take custody of the files, and they agreed to do so."

Spencer Tracy Is Nominated For An Oscar

Audrey Hepburn

Best Actress

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — Spencer Tracy, a two-time Academy Award winner, today has been nominated for his eighth Oscar—a record for male stars—for his performance in "Judgment at Nuremberg."

Tracy, winner previously for "Captains Courageous" and "Boy's Town," was nominated this time for his performance as an American judge sitting in judgment of Nazi war criminals. In nominations announced by the Academy of Motion Picture Arts and Sciences, "Judgment at Nuremberg" and "West Side Story" topped other contenders, as each received 11 nominations.

"The Hustler," an off-beat story of a pool shark, was named in nine categories by the academy. The Oscar winners will be disclosed April 9 at the academy presentation show in Santa Monica.

KEYED UP AND IN TUNE AT MARINDALE

Some "keyboard harmony" is created at Marindale School for the Handicapped as pupils try out new piano and typewriter, both donated by United Cerebral Palsy of Marin and Marinites Parents Group. At the keys of the typewriter is Donna Donahue, 12, while Jack Rickbell, 11, presides at the piano. Cynthia Llorens, 7, listens appreciatively. (Independent-Journal photo)

50 Married Years Feted By Couple

A golden wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Schenone of 212 Willow Street, Corte Madera, on Feb. 17 was observed the following day at a reception in San Francisco attended by 67 relatives and old friends. It was arranged by their daughter, Mrs. Alfred Ferrera of 215 Willow Street, and son Mario Schenone of 223 Baltimore Avenue, both of Corte Madera.

Married in Italy in 1912, the Schenones came to the United States three months later. After first settling in San Francisco, they moved to Marin County in 1929 and have lived here since. Now retired, Schenone was for years co-partner of the Parkside Market in Corte Madera with his son, Mario, who now carries on the enterprise.

They have four grandchildren, Mrs. Marjorie Lamerdin, Shirley Schenone, and Karen and Fred Ferrera, all of Corte Madera.

Singing Group In Series At College

Three singing groups from the University of California and an internationally known psychoanalyst will be included in the spring semester portion of the 1961-62 College of Marin Concert and lecture series.

On March 20, the University of California treble clef society, a mixed madrigal group, and a men's octet drawn from the U.C. mens glee club, will present a program of classical and modern music.

On April 10, Dr. Erich Fromm, psychoanalyst, social philosopher and author, will speak on "Disobedience: A Moral or Psychological Problem?"

Both the concert and the lecture will be open to the public without charge and will be held in Olney Hall on the Kentfield campus.

On Landing Ship

Henry R. Shism, Navy fireman, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles W. Chism of 905 Lincoln Avenue, San Rafael, is serving aboard the dock landing ship Belle Grove, homeported at Long Beach.

Awarded Gold Wings

Navy Ens. Albert E. Hallor of 45 Ardmore Road, Larkspur, has been designated naval aviator and awarded his gold wings at the Naval Air Station at Corpus Christie, Tex. Hallor entered flight training program 18 months ago. He will be stationed at San Diego.

TV TROUBLE TIP

Your picture from Channel 7 should improve in the next couple of days (if not already). However, it will still not return completely to normal strength. KGO technicians have been able to make partial repair on their storm damaged antenna and power should be up to 34 normal. However, not having the usual reception in this channel, alone, does not mean TV set trouble for you. When service resumes of full strength over Channel 7, we will advise you through our ads. TV trouble tips are our way of saying thank you for our pleasant association with Marin TV owners.

If this tip does not solve your TV problem call GL 4-5021 and we will be glad to check your set and antenna.
